MORE ABOUT THE PRIZE-FIGHT.

The Referee Withholds his Decision.

LETTER FROM GEORGE WILKES.

INTERESTING FROM FRANCE.

GENERAL AND COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE.

HALIFAX, Wednesday, May 2.

The R. M. steamship Canada, from Liverpool on the 21st of April, and Queenstown on the following day, arrived here this evening.

THE GREAT FIGHT.

There is nothing yet determined in regard to the great fight between SAYERS and HEENAN for the Championship of England. The Referee will not make a formal decision until next week.

It is emphatically denied on behalf of both men that either desire the battle to be considered as drawn, and it is claimed for each that each could have won in a few minutes more.

GEORGE WILKES writes to the London Times denying that the Referee stopped the fight at the request of HEENAN or his friends, and asserting that HEENAN virtually won the battle.

He declares that HEENAN is ready to renew the struggle at an hour's notice, and that he will accept of no other trophy but the Belt which he came to win, which he honestly believes he did win, and which he believes he can win again, and that he will not leave England until he brings the late contest to a new and due conclusion.

Considerable sums of money had been collected on the London and Liverpool Exchanges for SAYERS. He was to attend the London Stock Exchange on the 21st, to be presented with 100 guineas.

It is thought that strong steps will be taken by the authorities to prevent another meeting.

The fight between LYNCH, American, and SHAW, Englishman, for the championship of the light weights, was won by the latter.

GREAT BRITAIN.

In the House of Commons, Mr. HORSMAN attacked the foreign policy of the Government, and denounced the designs of NAPOLEON.

Lord JOHN RUSSELL defended the Ministers, and asserted that they had not been unmindful of the honor of their country, or the peace of Europe. Important questions as to the maintenance of the neutralized districts of Savoy had arisen, and he believed before long the great Powers would be in a position to take the point into consideration.

TAYLOR & PEERS, in the Staffordshire trade at London, had suspended, owing to the failure of their American remittances. Their liabilities are believed to be small.

The Prince of Wales was expected to sail for Canada in about a week.

Capt. JOHN VINEHALL, late of the General Screw Company, has been chosen commander of the Great Eastern.

Mr. OTWAY, Ex-Minister to Mexico, had been appointed Consul-General at Milan.

The chief cashier, PULLINGER, of the Union Bank of London, was a defaulter, it was believed, to a considerable amount.

FRANCE.

The Emperor and Empress will visit Savoy this Summer.

The Chalons camp is already being formed. It is double the size of last year's.

The rentes on the Paris Bourse were at 70f. 5c.; the market closing dull.

Rumors gained strength that a Congress would soon assemble to arrange the French-Swiss question.

The French journals claim an almost unanimous vote in all the Communes of Nice in favor of annexation to France.

ITALY.

The insurrection in Messina had been quelled, and tranquillity restored, but the insurgents were reported to be in considerable force in the mountains, with the troops unable to dislodge them from want of artillery.

The Papal Government has sent a dispatch to the European Powers, not only protesting against the annexation of the Legations to Piedmont, but hoping that they will put an end to this iniquitous spoliation.

The Pope has appointed Count MERODE, of Belgium, his Minister of War.

AUSTRIA.

Gen. BENEDICK has been appointed civil and military Governor of Hungary, vice Archduke ALBERT. He is commissioned to carry out sundry reforms, from which effects are predicted.

SPAIN.

Spanish Ministerial changes were expected, and it was supposed that Gen. CONCHA would enter the new Cabinet.

Gen. ORTEGA was shot on the 18th of April. It was thought clemency would be extended to his accomplices.

RUSSIA.

The ice was breaking up at St. Petersburg, but it was firm at Cronstadt.

INDIA.

A Calcutta telegram, dated April 1, reports that the excitement in the Indigo district was subsiding, and that no serious disturbances were feared.

The Bombay mails of March 28 are on board the Canada.

LATEST VIA QUEENSTOWN.

The Catholics in America.

LETTER FROM THE POPE TO THE ROMAN CATHOLIC BISHOPS IN THE UNITED STATES.

To our Venerable Brethren: John, Archbishop of New-York; John, Bishop of Albany; John, Bishop of Boston; John, Bishop of Buffalo; John, Bishop of Brooklyn; James, Bishop of Newark; Louis, Bishop of Burlington; Francis, Bishop of Hartford; and David, Bishop of Portland:

VENERABLE BRETHREN—HEALTH AND APOSTOLIC BENEDICTION! We can scarcely express in words the rejoicing and gladness which your letter of the 19th January afforded us, in the midst of our greatest sadness and tribulation. You hastened, venerable brethren, to write to us immediately on your meeting for the celebration of your Provincial Council, in order that assembling together under the invocation of the Holy Spirit, and in mutual consultation, you might provide still more for the welfare of the Dioceses committed respectively to your Episcopal zeal and guidance. For in your letters shine forth on every side bright evidences of your great attachment and special devotion to us, and of your reverence, love and obedience to this chair of St. Peter, and, in like manner, your bitter sorrow on account of our tribulations, universally known, brought on by the counsels and intrigues of men who, hostile to this Apostolic See, and opposed to the civil principality which belongs to it, by sacrilegious daring have attempted to destroy the patrimony of St. Peter, and to extinguish entirely its rights, as well divine as human. These they hope and labor to destroy utterly. Most grateful to us has been this evidence of your great sympathy, so truly worthy of Catholic prelates, and so worthy to be distinguished by praise and publication.

We, indeed, although inflicted with unspeakable grief, witnessing the evil warfare which, with immense detriment to the salvation of souls, is being carried on by impious men against our divine religion, still place all our hope and confidence in God our Saviour, knowing well that He has ever been present with prompt aid in support of His Church; that the same Church has never been more glorious than when men have endeavored to extinguish it; that it has never been more secure than when the more violent squalls of persecution excited by its enemies have seemed to agitate it the most.

It has been truly consoling to us to see by your letter with what ardent attachment you and your clergy, as well as the faithful laity, have not ceased to offer up fervent prayer to the Father of Mercies according to our desire and for our intention.

We have full confidence that you, Venerable Brethren, relying upon the Divine support, will proceed with even greater alacrity and energy in contending against this great iniquity of the times; that you will fulfill all the duties of your ministry; that you will sustain and defend energetically the cause of the Catholic Church, and take measures both for the protection of the flocks committed to your care, and to expose the fallacies, refute the errors and repel the assaults of wicked men.

Whilst, however, we congratulate you from our heart for the pastoral solicitude which promoted the celebration of your late Provincial Council, the acts of which, according to canonical right, you rejoiced to submit to our supreme judgment and that of this Holy See, know that without any delay we have directed that they should be inspected by our sacred congregation for the propagation of the Christian faith, in order that it may examine the acts of your Council and report them to us, so that in regard to them it shall communicate to you the proper response.

Finally, be most assured that we, in the humility of our heart, continue to pray and implore the God of Mercy that He may pour out upon you the richest gifts of his goodness, and also that these same shall descend upon the dear members of the flocks committed to your care. And, as evidence of this, no less than a certain pledge of our great affection for you, venerable brethren, we impart to you and to all the clergy and laity of the several dioceses respectively committed to your care our most affectionate apostolic benediction.

Given at Rome, from St. Peters, 5th day of March, 1860, in the fourteenth year of our pontificate.

PIUS P. P. IX.

An American Portrait of the Queen.

The American Association in London made an effort recently to obtain permission for the well-known American artist, Mr. MINER K. KELLOGG, to paint an original portrait of Queen VICTORIA. The application was submitted through our Minister, Mr. DALLAS, who transmitted to the Association the following reply:

BUCKINGHAM PALACE, March 28, 1860.

SIR: I have received the commands of Her Majesty the Queen, to request that you will have the goodness to assure the members of the American Association of Her Majesty's high appreciation of the sentiments which dictated the wish for a portrait of Her Majesty, which is expressed in the papers which you forwarded to Lord JOHN RUSSELL.

Of these kindly sentiments upon the part of the citizens of the United States, her Majesty has received frequent assurances, and they have always afforded her the liveliest satisfaction.

Her Majesty fears that the full occupation of her time would not admit of her giving sittings for an original portrait, but the Queen will be happy to give every facility for a copy being taken of any portrait that might be considered most eligible.

I have the honor to be, Sir,
Your most obedient, humble servant,
(Signed) C. B. PHIPPS.
GEORGE M. DALLAS, Esq.

CHARLESTON CONVENTIONS

PROGRESS OF THE FACTIONS.

THE BALLOTINGS.

THE PLATFORM OF THE SECEDERS.

Probabilities of an Adjournment to Baltimore.

Action of the Wood Delegation.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

CHARLESTON, Wednesday, May 2.

GILMORE'S Brass Band made every one homesick this morning, at the opening of the Convention, by playing "Home, Sweet Home." Mr. FLOURNOY, of Arkansas, after it had got through, jumped upon a chair and called at the top of his voice for three cheers for the Union. All present, ladies included, responded heartily. Then our drooping spirits were revived by "Hail Columbia" and "Yankee Doodle."

The attendance at the regular Convention was very slim. The Hall where the seceders were in session was on the contrary crowded.

Accounts of the mass meeting at New-Orleans have created great excitement and thoroughly roused Southern ire.

During the earlier ballotings to-day the Hall was nearly deserted, few besides the Chairmen of the different delegations paying any attention to the proceedings.

The Virginia delegation found it necessary to-day to discuss the propriety of dividing their vote. After a decision by the Chair that individual votes might be cast, one was given for Mr. DOUGLAS. Shouts of applause greeted this defection from the Southern ranks.

Great indignation is expressed at the course of two delegates from Indiana, who have gone home after appointing Messrs. BRIGHT and WILLARD as their substitutes.

In the Seceders' Convention the day has been occupied by a debate upon the Platform, Messrs. JACKSON and YANCEY taking the lead. The latter wished to insert the "Southern States" in place of the "United States."

At the Seceding Convention the Majority Platform was adopted. They resolved not to change their name, but to consider themselves yet the Democratic Party. Mayor WOOD was present as spectator. They adjourned to take into private consideration the propriety of making nominations.

The ballotings in the National Convention have continued up to this hour with but little variation. North Carolina gave in her adherence to DICKINSON, and brought down the House. Mr. GITTINGS, of Maryland, moved to adjourn to Baltimore, to meet there on the first Monday in June. This proposition was met with opposition, and was finally withdrawn, but may yet be the ultimatum.

The withdrawal of JOHNSTON by the Tennessee delegation in favor of DOUGLAS was received with great applause. The Douglas men mean to nominate their man, or compel an adjournment to Baltimore, and unless treachery is developed they will succeed.

AFFAIRS ON TUESDAY.

[The subjoined special dispatches from our correspondent at Charleston were received too late for our edition of yesterday morning.—ED. TIMES.]

CHARLESTON, Tuesday, May 1.

Nominations being called for, amid great confusion and excitement, Gov. KING, of Missouri, presented, in a very neat speech, the name of STEPHEN A. DOUGLAS. The friends of GUTHRIE, DICKINSON, HUNTER, JOHNSON, and LANE followed.

On the first ballot, the New-York vote for DOUGLAS caused great astonishment, and was received with shouts of applause.

Eight candidates were in the field. The Douglas strength is developing, and his friends claim that Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi, and Maryland will yet go for him.

Dispatches have been received from HUNTER, JOHNSON and NICHOLSON, urging a continuance in the Convention, and they are used with great effect. The Georgia dispatches render it incumbent upon its non-seceding members to remain in and abide by the decision of the Convention.

The Northeastern vote is reduced to five for DOUGLAS, and no one but him can get it. Treason may take one vote in Minnesota, but nowhere else.

Mr. SAMUELS, of Iowa, has the head-work of the Douglas cohorts.

Mayor WOOD goes home in the Adger. His political future would be hard to prophecy.

Great excitement prevails everywhere. CUSHING'S course is detested by all, North and South.

The seceding Convention has resolved to adopt the majority report, with a slight modification.

Bets are offered at two to one in favor of DOUGLAS.

CHARLESTON, Tuesday, May 1—Evening.

Confusion worse confounded reigns here. New-Jersey has voted to withdraw the name of ALEXANDER, and adhere to GUTHRIE. The day has been devoted to personal explanation, and conservative speeches from the non-seceding Southern men, who behave with great dignity.

Georgia and Arkansas have retired from the Convention.

Tennessee, Virginia, Kentucky and Maryland retired to consult. They had a meeting with the New-York delegation, and concluded if the following resolution was added to the Platform, to remain and to assent to the proceedings of the Convention, and to agree that a two-third vote of those present shall elect. The resolution declares that all the citizens of the United States have an equal right to settle with their property in the Territories, and to claim federal protection; bowing to the Supreme Court and being exempt from unfriendly legislation.

Mr. CUSHING has pledged himself to leave the chair and dissolve the House if other States go out.

The California camp is in an uproar. Each delegate acts for himself, and personal explanations ensue.

The Seceders met again to-day. Mr. BAYARD, of Delaware, presided. WOOD'S delegation, having been invited, were in attendance. Mayor WOOD made a long and able speech, reviewing the position of the delegation. He disclaimed being a Seceder. He would not commit himself beforehand to anything this Convention should do. If they adopted a sound platform, embodying true Democratic principles, he might be willing to meet them; but would not promise. He laid all the present trouble of the other Convention at the door of those who voted to exclude him. Had he been admitted, he would have saved the Southern Platform. He then retired with his delegation, and has assumed a position of masterly inactivity. He has been offered a seat in the Soft Delegation, but declined it.

The New-Yorkers are all at sea. COCHRANE wants to withdraw, and would if he did not fear misconstruction. BARLOW and BUTTERWORTH will retire, and FOWLER is on the fence; but no definite result has been reached.

HOWARD.

THE NATIONAL CONVENTION.

CLOSE OF TUESDAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

[The following dispatches should have reached us in season for publication in the TIMES of yesterday morning, but were delayed by the imperfect working of the wires.—ED. TIMES.]

CHARLESTON, Tuesday, May 1.

Mr. BOULDEN, of Georgia, was among those who had refused to retire, and he desired to give his reasons. He was a Southern States rights and American Slave-trade man. He believed Slavery to be morally socially and politically right, and that Slavery was an institution of civilization. Still, he believed the doctrine of protection to Slavery in the Territories a mere abstraction, on which he was not prepared to disintegrate the Democratic Party. It is no trouble for a man to be a saint in heaven; but when I look to the Northern Democrats, and see them standing up to breast the storm of fanaticism, I love them, and will stand by them until the last day of this week late in the night. He was not willing to cast them into the arms of the Black Republicans. The African slave-trader is the true philanthropist. He brings the heathen here to civilize, and sends him down the stream of time a Christian being. The slave-trader of Virginia authorizes the sale of the Christian man, and the separation of the husband and the wife, yet rolls up his eyes at the man who brings the heathen here to enjoy the blessings of civilization.

Mr. REED, of Indiana, said: "Here is one who is with you on that subject."

Capt. RYNDERS—You will soon have some recruits from the New-York Black Republicans.

Mr. GALLAGHER, of Connecticut, contended that the gentleman had no right to slander the representatives of Connecticut and the North.

Mr. BOULDEN said that he remained here because he had great faith in the Northern Democracy. He intended to hold on to the Democratic Party of the North until the last horn blows. He cautioned the seceders that if they succeeded by their action in breaking up the Democratic Party, they would weaken the bonds of the Union. He was no Disunionist. He loved the Union, and intended to stand by it to the end. Most of the seceding delegates were on the floor, and Mr. BOULDEN lashed them with great severity.

Mr. MCCOOK, of Ohio, offered a resolution, fixing 2 o'clock to-day for balloting for President and Vice President.

Mr. RAFFERTY, of New-Jersey, presented a protest signed by a part of the delegation from that State, against the action of the Convention in annulling the instructions to the delegates from that State to vote as a unit.

The President decided that votes could not be taken so long as several States were absent consulting. The motion to fix the hour for proceeding to ballot must, therefore, lie over.

Mr. BIDWELL, of California, said his delegation had viewed in sorrow the proceedings of the past two days. He then proceeded to explain the position of the Democratic Party in California.

Mr. AUSTIN SMITH, of California, denied the authority of any one to speak for him, or seven-eighths of his delegation. He styled Mr. BIDWELL as a black sheep, and Northern Democrats, he asserted, were truckling to the same side of the question.

Mr. BOULDEN continued to speak of the Southern Slave-trade in Virginia. He would like the members of the Convention to come down to Georgia with him, and he would show them some slaves he had bought in Maryland, some in Virginia, some in North Carolina, and some in Georgia, but he would show them some direct from Africa, and they were the noblest Romans of them all. Therefore, he believed the slave-trader the noblest of philanthropists and the most Christian civilizer in the world. He loved the Democrats of the North, and held them in higher estimation than the parlor Democrats of the South.

Mr. SEWARD, of Georgia, as one of the delegation that remained, made an explanation. He was in Congress when the Kansas bill was passed, and would assert that the agreement between the North and South then was that the constitutional question should be determined by the Court, and that both would abide by that decision. He saw around him men who had been trampled upon by the Black Republicans, and we were asked to place our feet upon their necks. He would go home to the people and submit the question to them, and abide by their decision. He contended that the South asked more of the North than was stipulated for in the contract, and the seceding Delegates have no right to decide on this question.

Mr. HOLDEN, of North Carolina, saw nothing that should warrant the Southern delegates in seceding. He was opposed to "Squatter Sovereignty," but was willing to take the Cincinnati platform with an indorsement of the DRED SCOTT decision. This was sufficient for him.

Mr. RICHARDSON, of Illinois, indorsed the statement of facts made by Mr. SEWARD, of Georgia, of a compact between the North and the South at the time of the passage of the Kansas bill. You ask us for our property or our lives, and we are ready to lay them down for you, but do not, I entreat of you, make any demands upon us to yield up our manhood and our honor.

Mr. BERRY, of South Carolina, rose (loud hissing from the galleries now commenced, while cries resounded all over the hall of "clear the galleries, clear the galleries,") and took the stand. He proclaimed himself a Union Democrat. This great and glorious Union should be preserved, if it is possible. The assertion that it was agreed that the South required more than the indorsement of the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States was untrue. He would say to gentlemen that if they will now indorse the Dred Scott decision they will be able to bring all the Southern States into union and harmony again.

Mr. HOWARD, of Tennesse, spoke in behalf of that State, and presented a resolution sustaining the Dred Scott decision, and declaring that no rights of person or property in the Territories shall be impaired by Territorial or Congressional legislation. He offered this as the ultimatum of the South, together with a resolution that a two-third vote of the whole Electoral College shall be required for a nomination.

Mr. MERRICK demanded that the vote on the resolution fixing the time for commencing ballot now be taken.

Several motions were here made to adjourn, amid the greatest confusion and disorder.

A vote was demanded by States on the motion to adjourn.

Mr. GITTINGS, of Maryland, gave notice that if the Convention did not take a recess he would move that the Convention adjourn sine die.

In taking the vote the Georgia delegation gave the full vote of the State.

This was objected to, and led to some debate.

The President decided that they were not entitled to cast any vote in this Convention.

Mr. HOLDEN appealed from the decision of the Chair, and contended that they were carrying out the instructions of the State, while the seceders and bolters were not. They were sent here to vote and not to bolt. If the remainder of the delegation were not here, it was not the fault of those that remain.

A vote by States was demanded on the appeal, and resulted in Ayes, 148; Nays, 100—so the decision of the Chair was sustained, and the nine remaining Georgia delegates left the Convention, declaring that it had disfranchised a sovereign State.

The motion to adjourn was then renewed, and after a long debate, at 3 P. M. the Convention adjourned until 5 P. M.

The following are the resolutions presented by Tennessee, and insisted on by that State and Kentucky:

Resolved, That all the citizens of the United States have an equal right to settle with their property in the Territories of the United States, and that under the decisions of the Supreme Court, which we recognize as a correct exposition of the Constitution, neither their rights of person or property can be destroyed or impaired by Congressional or Territorial legislation.

Resolved, That two-thirds of all the electoral votes of the United States shall be required for the nominations.

EVENING SESSION.

The Convention reassembled at 5 o'clock.

A vote was taken on ordering the previous question on the proposition to proceed to ballot for President. Adopted—ayes, 148; nays, 103.

The Tennesse resolution, requiring that the President of the Convention shall not declare any person as nominated for President or Vice-President, unless he shall have received 202 or more votes, was then called up.

Mr. RICHARDSON, of Illinois, moved to lay the resolution on the table. Yeas, 111½; Nays, 141. So the resolution was not laid on the table.

Mr. STUART, of Michigan, then raised the point of order that the resolution must lie on the table one day before being acted upon, as it involved a change in the Standing Rules of the Convention.

The President decided that the resolution was in order.

Mr. STEWART appealed from the decision of the Chair, and the vote being called on the appeal, the Chair was sustained: Ayes, 144; Nays, 108.

[This vote is regarded as fatal to DOUGLAS.]

Mr. STEWART then moved an amendment, that all delegates who vote on the nominations shall be bound to maintain them. Ruled out of order.

The Convention then proceeded to ballot for a candidate for President.

[The first seven ballots appeared in our morning issue of yesterday.—ED. TIMES.]

At 9½ P. M. the Convention adjourned, to meet at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning.

The adoption of the resolution requiring 202 votes to nominate makes the nomination of DOUGLAS doubtful.

PROCEEDINGS YESTERDAY.

CHARLESTON, Wednesday, May 2.

The Boston Brass Band, seated in the gallery, opened the Convention this morning with half a dozen spirit-stirring airs, concluding with Yankee Doodle, at the conclusion of which Mr. FLOURNEY, of Arkansas, with lungs stentorian, proposed three cheers for the Union, which was heartily responded to.

The floor and galleries were thronged with the first ladies of the city.

The Convention was called to order at 10½ o'clock.

Prayer was offered by Rev. Mr. KENDRICK.

The Convention then proceeded to ballot:

On the twenty-third ballot, when Virginia was called, Mr. RUSSELL stated that he was required to cast 14 votes one way and 1 another. He declined to cast it, however, unless otherwise ordered by the Convention. The State Convention had not passed any resolution on the subject, but voting as a unit was regarded as the Democratic law of the State.

Mr. NORFIT, of Virginia, said himself and colleague thought his constituents ought to be heard, and he demanded that they should be heard. He could no longer vote for Mr. HUNTER.

Debate was indulged in for some time on the question, when the President decided that the delegates from Virginia are entitled to cast their individual votes.

The vote of Virginia was then cast, as follows: 1 for DOUGLAS and 14 for HUNTER.

DOUGLAS also received one vote from North Carolina, giving him a majority of the whole Electoral College, as follows:

At 1½ o'clock, the Convention adjourned to 5 o'clock.

EVENING SESSION.

The Convention met at 5 o'clock.

Mr. GITTINGS, of Maryland, gave notice that after the next ballot he would move that this Convention adjourn to meet in Baltimore on the first Monday in June. He thought the delegates should go home to see their constituents, and they will be ready to do their duty by nominating any man who can beat the the Black Republicans.

JOSIAH RANDALL, of Philadelphia, would move to amend to adjourn sine die.

The thirty-fifth ballot was announced. DOUGLAS, 152. Others as on the thirty-fourth.

A debate ensued on the motion of Mr. GITTINGS. He assured the Convention that Baltimore was no longer a plug-ugly town, and promised a hospitable welcome to the Convention. The motion was withdrawn for the present, but he would renew it in the course of the evening.

During the thirty-sixth ballot, Arkansas having voted for BRECKINRIDGE, one of the delegates from Kentuck requested the vote withdrawn, as he was instructed by Mr. BRECKINRIDGE not to allow the use of his name in opposition to the gentleman at present in nomination, and especially that of Mr. GUTHRIE.

THIRTY-SIXTH BALLOT.

Others unchanged.

Tennessee withdrew the name of Mr. JOHNSON as a candidate.

Adjourned at 8¾ o'clock.

DOUGLAS' friends are determined to stand by him to the end.

THE SOUTHERN CONVENTION.

TUESDAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

CHARLESTON, Tuesday, May 1.

The Southern Convention organized by electing Mr. BAYARD, of Delaware, Permanent President, and remained in session at South Carolina Hall, anxiously awaiting the decision on the resolutions urged by Tennessee and Kentucky in the Regular Convention.

Mr. RUSSELL, of Virginia, presented the result of the consultation with the delegation from his State. They fully indorse, he said, the course taken by Tennessee, and if the resolution presented by Tennessee is not adopted, he is authorized not to cast the vote of his State on any subject in the Convention.

Mr. CALDWELL, of Kentucky, indorsed the ground taken by Tennessee and Virginia. They would all act together on this subject. They wished an indorsement of the Dred Scott decision and an agreement that the nominees shall receive not less than 202 as requisite for a nomination. He concluded by moving an adjournment until 10 o'clock to-morrow morning, in order that gentlemen might have time to deliberate on this subject.

The motion was carried, and the Southern Convention adjourned.

THE PROCEEDINGS YESTERDAY.

CHARLESTON, Wednesday, May 2.

The Southern Convention adopted the Platform reported by the majority of the Platform Committee to the National Convention.

The following is the report:

Resolved, That the platform adopted by the Democratic Party at Cincinnati be affirmed, with the following explanatory resolutions:

First—That the Government of a Territory organized by an act of Congress is provisional and temporary, and during its existence all citizens of the United States have an equal right to settle with their property in the Territory, without their rights, either of person or property, being destroyed or injured by Congressional or Territorial legislation.

Second—That it is the duty of the Federal Government, in all its departments, to protect the rights of persons and property in the Territories, and wherever else its constitutional authority extends.

Third—That when the settlers in a Territory, having an adequate population, form a State Constitution, the right of sovereignty commences, and being consummated by their admission into the Union, they stand on an equality with the people of other States, and a State thus organized ought to be admitted into the Federal Union, whether its Constitution prohibits or recognizes the institution of Slavery.

Resolved, That the Democratic Party are in favor of the acquisition of the Island of Cuba, on such terms as shall be honorable to ourselves and just to Spain, at the earliest practicable moment.

Resolved, That the enactments of State Legislatures to defeat the faithful execution of the Fugitive Slave law are hostile in character, subversive of the Constitution, and revolutionary in their effect.

Resolved, That the Democracy of the United States recognize it as the imperative duty of this Government to protect the naturalized citizen in all his rights, whether at home or in foreign lands, to the same extent as its native born citizens.

Whereas, One of the greatest necessities of the age, in a political, commercial, postal and military point of view, is a speedy communication between the Pacific and Atlantic coasts; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the National Democratic Party do hereby pledge themselves to use every means in their power to secure the passage of some bill, to the extent of their constitutional authority by Congress, for the construction of a Pacific Railroad from the Mississippi River to the Pacific Ocean, at the earliest practicable moment.

A proposition to take the new name of Constitutional Democracy was, after a long debate, voted down, the Delegates claiming to be the National Democratic Convention.

The Pacific Railroad resolution was adopted, but not without considerable opposition.

The Convention then adjourned, to meet at 8 o'clock to-night.

The Convention met at the Theatre at 8 o'clock to-night.

Mr. HATCH, of Louisiana, moved to adjourn to noon to-morrow, as the other Convention have made no nomination yet. Carried.

There was a large audience, including many ladies, and Mr. YANCEY was called upon for a speech. He took a position on the stage, with two bouquets, thrown to him by ladies, in his hands, and returned thanks, and then called upon Mr. BARRY, who took a position on the stage, and proceeded to amuse the ladies.

THE CAPITOL EXCITED ABOUT THE RESULT.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, May 2.

It has been a day of intense excitement here. The Cabinet is divided in sentiment—one or two members siding with Mr. DOUGLAS. The hotels are crowded to-night, discussing the chances. Mr. DOUGLAS having received a majority of the whole Convention, his friends, it is said, will never yield unless it be for an adjournment to some other place. A rumor this evening that Mr. GUTHRIE had received 168 votes greatly excited our community, and even the Southern Democrats denounced him as being more odious to them than Mr. DOUGLAS. Many anti-Douglas men declared that they would much prefer Mr. DOUGLAS. Mr. DOUGLAS has sent no communication whatever to his friends since the Convention assembled, nor will he do so. He leaves them to pursue their own policy, without dictation or advice.

Mayor Wood Among the Editors.

From the Charleston Courier, April 30.

Never, perhaps, has there assembled in any city of the Union so large and respectable a body of representatives of the American Press as met last Saturday evening in the editorial rooms of Mr. DODGE. Dr. MCAULEY, of the Clarendon Banner, presided. Hon. FERNANDO WOOD, Mayor of New-York, was present as the guest of the Press. His health having been proposed, amid much applause he rose and responded as follows:

SPEECH OF MAYOR WOOD.

MR. CHAIRMAN: I need scarcely say, Sir, that I sincerely thank you, and all the gentlemen who are present here to-night, for this very kind reception. I would also express my thanks to the gentlemen who invited me here, and thereby gave me an opportunity to meet so many representatives of the very powerful institution that we all recognize as existing in the Press. I can only say, Sir, that I am not prepared, on account of the very severe pressure upon my lungs, to address you at all upon this occasion. If I could speak—if it were within my power to express the appreciation which I have of the talents and personal character of the gentlemen of the Press throughout the whole country, and of their pervading influence in our politics and our morals—if, I say, this were within my power, I fear that I would lay myself liable to the charge of approaching the Press by attempting to appreciate them beyond what they deem themselves. I will but say that I have often thought that it required gentlemen of peculiar intelligence to fulfill their duties, and that I have often regretted that the power which they wield is so frequently exercised in a bad cause.

The Press, Sir, is the great teacher of the people. Within the sphere of its operations its power is beyond measure. Now, to control it, to avoid the influences which are continually approaching those who possess that control, to use it at all times for the dissemination of correct principles and the statement of correct facts, becomes, in my judgment, a very delicate and onerous duty. In New-York the Press has really attained an immense power. In fact, I may say that the power of the Press in the City of New-York is altogether beyond estimate. And even in Europe it serves to convey to the popular mind the impressions of this country and its institutions which are most relied upon. I think that the gentlemen present will agree with me in saying that they also look to the New-York Press for the most comprehensive and reliable statement of the commercial, agricultural and manufacturing affairs of our country.

You, gentlemen, who are now present, hold in your hands this mighty power. The people derive their opinions from you. Not only the present generation, but those which are to come after us must have their destiny for weal or for woe decided by you. So far as you are here, members of the great Democratic Party, the views that you may take as to the questions now before it, are of immense importance. But, however, much we may differ on these points, it strikes me that when this Convention shall have adopted a platform, and shall have selected a candidate in keeping with its principles, why, Sir, these gentlemen will return to their several communities, and with such power in the hands of men so intelligent and so national, we have nothing to fear for the success of the party, and the maintenance of the country and its institutions.

I can only say, in conclusion, that I thank you for the honor you have conferred upon me—that I have been very much gratified in meeting the gentlemen of the Press here assembled, and that however much others may despair and apprehend danger, I do not. I trust that your intelligence and your patriotism will alone be sufficient to steer the good old Bark of State in safety to that shore where it may be securely moored, at least for another four years' time.

Again returning to you my most sincere thanks, I will only say, that if, in the past, I have in any degree entitled myself to your regard and esteem, let me hope that I may do nothing in the future to make me any the less your friend.

METHODIST GENERAL CONFERENCE.

Thirteenth Quadrennial Session at Buffalo—The Business to be Transacted—Slavery, Lay Delegates, Terms of Ministerial Service and the Bishops to be Elected—First Day's Proceedings—Standing Committees.

From Our Own Correspondent.

BUFFALO, Tuesday, May 1, 1860.

The Thirteenth Session of the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church commenced at St. James Hall in this city to-day. It is composed of delegates from all the Annual Conferences, and meets to consider the affairs of the Church, on the 1st of May in every fourth year.

The present Session will probably be an unusually interesting and lengthy one. The Slavery question will come before the Conference in the shape of a proposition to amend the General Rule so as to declare slaveholding a sin; this matter will not be reached, however, for a couple of weeks, probably. The election of three Bishops is contemplated; they are chosen as often as the exigencies of the work require. A movement in favor of the admission of Lay Delegates at future Conferences will be made. Members of the Conference inform me that it will be unsuccessful at this time, but that there will be an expression in its behalf which will ultimately secure the adoption of the measure. It is proposed to extend the period of clerical appointments; the rule now is that a minister may be designated for service in a particular field for not more than two years in succession; the ultimate term will be extended to three years.

The principal interest of this Conference will, of course, centre in the discussion of the Slavery question. The precise shape in which it comes before the Conference it is important to understand at the outset. The Church has the following in its discipline:

Question.—What shall be done for the extirpation of the evil of Slavery?

Answer.—We declare that we are as much as ever convinced of the great evil of Slavery. Therefore, no slaveholder shall be eligible to any official station in our Church hereafter, where the laws of the State in which he lives will admit of emancipation, and permit the liberated slave to enjoy freedom.

2. When any traveling preacher becomes an owner of a slave or slaves, by any means, he shall forfeit his ministerial character in our church, unless he execute, if it be practicable, a legal emancipation of such slaves conformably to the laws of the State in which he lives.

3. All our preachers shall prudently enforce upon our members the necessity of teaching their slaves to read the word of God; and to allow them time to attend upon the public worship of God on our regular days of divine service.

Here, while Slavery is declared an evil, there is no provision excluding Slaveholders from the Church. Slaveholders who can and do not emancipate their slaves are merely disqualified for official position in the church.

The General Rule on Slavery says it is expected of all who continue in the Church that they will avoid "the buying and selling of men, women and children, with an intention to enslave them." Those who desire a change of this rule ask that not only the buying and selling, but the holding of slaves be interdicted. Three amendments, each demanding this, in different phraseology, styled severally the Providence, Erie and Cincinnati Rules, will be brought before the General Conference. The question of their adoption has already been decided virtually by the annual Conferences, in their choice of delegates to the General Conference. A majority of the delegates were elected because they favored the change, but the change cannot be effected, under the discipline, unless two-thirds of the members of the General Conference vote for it, and three-fourths of the members, present and voting at meetings of the annual Conferences, concur. There is not so large a majority as this in favor of any of the three rules referred to. The subject will, however, probably be fully discussed, and it is the design of the majority,—some say,—to urge the addition of an explanatory note to the General Rule, by which the latter will be made to cover slaveholding as well as buying and selling. There is nothing in the Discipline which forbids that such a note should be appended by the vote of the majority. Others tell me that there are enough delegates in favor of the change to effect it if united on any one proposition, and that the Committee on Slavery will originate a new rule which the Conference will adopt, throwing aside those of the Erie, Providence and Cincinnati Conferences.

At 9 o'clock this morning the members of the Conference assembled. Bishops MORRIS, JANES, SCOTT, BAKER and AMES were on the platform—the first-named, who is the senior, presiding. An hour was devoted to the opening religious exercises, which were conducted by Bishops MORRIS and JANES, and Rev. Messrs. BROWN, of Wisconsin, and TIBBET, of the East Baltimore Conferences.

Rev. JOSEPH M. TRIMBLE was elected Secretary pro tem., and Rev. BENJ. GRIFFIN Assistant Secretary pro tem.

The Conferences were called in order, and the delegates presented their certificates of election. Rev. A. BRUNSON, of Wisconsin, presented a protest against the reception of five delegates from the Wisconsin Conference, setting forth that in order that there might be a sufficient number of members of that Conference to entitle it to a fifth delegate, one had been admitted and three readmitted to membership, in violation of the rules and to the prejudice of the Church. It characterized such proceedings as dishonest and fraudulent. The paper was laid over. It was announced that there were 221 delegates to this Conference, all of whom were present except 16.

Rev. WM. L. HARRIS was chosen Secretary, and Rev. Messrs. GRIFFIN, COX, COOK and FILLMORE Assistants.

It was resolved that the Conference should meet daily at 8½ A. M., and adjourn at 12 M.

Rev. Dr. FLOY (New-York) offered a resolution providing for the official publication of the proceedings of the Conference. It was adopted.

It was resolved that Standing Committees on Episcopacy, Itinerancy, Boundaries, Slavery, Book Concern, Missions, Education, Lay Delegations, Sunday Schools, Revivals and the Tract cause, each to consist of one member from each annual Conference be appointed.

It was resolved that a Committee on German Works, consisting of the German delegates and one English delegate from each Conference in which there is a German Church or German work to do, should be appointed, and the Conference adjourned to 3 P. M.

At the afternoon session, Rev. A. BRUNSON, of Wisconsin, moved that a Committee be appointed to investigate the allegations against the Wisconsin Conference.

Rev. I. M. LEIHY, of Wisconsin, declared that the charges were misrepresentations, and desired an immediate investigation before the Conference.

The motion was carried.

Rev. A. WITHERSPOON offered a resolution in favor of altering the Discipline, so as to render the office of Presiding Elder compatible with a pastoral charge. It was referred.

It was resolved that nine members of either of the Standing Committees should be a quorum for the transaction of business.

Committees on the Bible Cause, Temperance, Temporal Economy, the Pastoral Address, the Order of the Discipline, and Religious Exercises, were appointed, and after the transaction of some routine business the Conference adjourned, just in time to enable me to send this to you, on the wings of the American Express Company.

LAW REPORTS.

The Omnibus Suit.

PLAINTIFF RESTS—ONE DEFENDANT MOVES FOR NON-SUIT.

The New-York and New-Haven Railroad Company vs. Schuyler et al.—This tedious case has been brought to a close on the part of the plaintiff after a steady pull of over a month—the plaintiff having rested the case.

Mr. Francis H. Dykers, counsel for the defendant, John H. Dykers, then moved for judgment on the complaint, which alleged that his client was the holder of 150 shares of spurious stock, upon the ground that the proof showed that he was the holder of that amount of genuine stock. He stated that the evidence of the genuineness of the stock was shown by the new stock ledger prepared and put in evidence by the Company, and that upon no theory adduced by the Company was the defendant Dykers shown to be the holder of any spurious stock.

Mr. Noyes, for the Company, urged that Mr. Holbrook, by his distribution, had made the defendant the holder of spurious stock. The Court reminded counsel that Mr. Holbrook's distribution was not in evidence, and called upon him to show any evidence making the defendant the holder of spurious stock.

Justice INGRAHAM then said he would reserve his decision upon the point raised, and the motion based thereon, until the next meeting of the Court.

Adjourned until the third Monday of May.

Assault on Shipboard.

UNITED STATES COMMISSIONER'S OFFICE—BEFORE GEO. F. BETTS.

Franklin Nichols, the second mate of the American ship Francis O'Brien, was arraigned upon a charge of assaulting one of the crew, a colored man, with an axe. The accused set up that the defendant, on a previous occasion, had cut him with a knife in the leg, inflicting a dangerous wound. Mr. BETTS sent the case to the Grand Jury.

WEDNESDAY, May 2—P. M.

We had quite a variety of fluctuations on the Stock Exchange at a difference of nearly one ℔ cent. on most of the Share list. The selling temper was decidedly paramount at the early Board, and several of the Western Stocks were pressed at low figures, and so were New-York Central, Panama and Pacific Mail. Before the Board adjourned some signs of recovery were manifested, and the Street speculators paid on Central—the only Stock very actively dealt in between the Boards—78½@78⅝ ℔ cent. At the Second Board, the turn was all in favor of better prices again, and the buyers were in larger numbers. Some adverse use had been made, for a day or two, of the political news from Charleston, as well as the rise in Exchange, and as this was of a more assuring character for union in the Convention this afternoon, it is not improbable that purchases were made upon it. In addition to this, the Street is becoming accustomed to the rise in Exchange, and the resumption of the export movement of Bullion, and the shipments will soon become as much a matter of course as any other financial event of a steady and healthy nature. That the transfer of six or seven millions to England, this month, is regarded by some of our soundest Bankers as a movement rather to be desired, on account of the American interests now dependent on the steadiness of the Cotton trade at Liverpool and Manchester, than postponed, is quite certain, and the Exchange has been placed at the Specie standard accordingly. No sales on London have yet been made at the extreme figure, one of the prominent drawers supplying Bills to-day at 109⅝, but the quotation is called 109½@109⅝ ℔ cent. The market for Money is easy; a large line of 60-day acceptances, choice names, was placed to-day at 5 ℔ cent. per annum, and the Brokers are selling temporary Loans on Stock collateral at the same rate. Trade paper, of a prime character, running 90 days to 6 months, discounted at from 5½ to 7 ℔ cent. The Sub-Treasury movement is dull and steady this week. The Customs to-day only $36,000. The disbursements $103,000. Balance this afternoon $7,403,827.

On the opening of the Stock Board this morning, Virginia and Missouri State securities were weaker—Virginias 92½, Missouris 83 ℔ cent. In the afternoon 83¼ was paid for the latter. Californias advanced to 90½ ℔ cent. The Railway Bonds were dull in demand, though no important concession was made in price. Michigan Centrals, 93, Hannibal and St. Joseph, 73½, and Michigan Southern Seconds, 46¼ ℔ cent. Among the Western Shares, Rock Island was an exception to the general movement, going steadily up, and closing 65½ ℔ cent., cash, bid. New-York Central finally closed at 78⅞, Panama 144½ bid, cash, and Pacific Mail 104⅞@105 ℔ cent. The lowest sales this morning on Galena were at 62½ ℔ cent.; the closing, 63¼. There were rumors on the Street of another sharp disagreement with some of the connecting lines, and of the resignation of the President, Mr. NEWBERRY. The last-named event has been quite certain, we understand, for several weeks past, but solely on account of the intended absence of Mr. N. for a year or two in Europe. The general market this afternoon closed firm.

We learn that Mr. JAMES M. HARTSHORNE, of the Stock Exchange, becomes a partner in the house of LOCKWOOD & Co., in place of Mr. ALFRED LOCKWOOD, who retired on 1st inst.

The Bank of the State of New-York has declared a half-yearly dividend of 3½ ℔ cent., which is ½ ℔ cent. better than the November dividend of last year. The Nassau Bank also declares 3½ ℔ cent. for the six months ending 30th April. The Philadelphia Banks, except the Bank of North America, (which declares in July and January,) declared their semi-annual dividends yesterday. We subjoin a statement showing the present capital stock of each, the rate of the dividend, and the amount:

WHOLESALE PRODUCE MARKETS.

NEW-YORK, Wednesday, May 2, 1860.

Commission Sales of Produce for the week ending May 2, 1860, prepared for THE NEW-YORK TIMES by PURDY & JOHNSON, Produce Commission Merchants, No. 231 Fulton-street. Our quotations are such as merchants and producers realize who ship their Produce to this market to be sold on commission.

NEW BUTTER.

The supply of good new Butter barely suffices for the wants of the trade, and prices have not materially changed. The supply of old Butter, that is sound and sweet, is about exhausted, and parties in the Southern trade find it difficult to fill their orders. But little new Butter from Ohio has come to hand selling at from 12@c.@18c. Our advices generally would indicate quite as good prices for Butter the next few months as we had last year, while the chances are that it will do even better, from the fact that Dairymen are turning their attention to cheese. Prices range now quite as well as they did a year ago this time, while the amount of Butter being made is thought to be much less.

LIVE STOCK MARKETS.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, May 2, 1860.

There has been quite an increase in the receipts of live animals during the week, and there is a surplus of some kinds still on hand. The supply of beeves is not large, being some 400 less than last week, but as the weight is greater, and as other meats are plenty, prices have advanced very little—not over ¼c. ℔ ℔. for dressed carcasses. With a little assistance from outside buyers, the butchers have cleaned up the markets, leaving a healthy demand for more. ....Milch cows arrive slowly, as compared with some former weeks, and although there is a slightly improved demand it will not warrant sending forward faster.... Veal calves continue plenty, but all were sold at the low rates of last week. The present cool weather increases the consumption of veal. Good calves were sold to-day at 5c. ℔ ℔., live weight, although a few brought 6c....Sheep and lambs do not sell as well, by 25c.@50c. ℔ head, as last week. This is owing to large arrivals, cool weather, and abundance of veal, pork and fresh shad....Hogs are coming more freely, and accumulating in the yards. Prices are declining a little. Good corn hogs bring 6½c.@6⅝c. ℔ ℔., live weight.

The following figures, carefully compiled from our former reports, and from statistics gathered at all the City yards, including the cattle sold direct to butchers at Bergen, give a comparative view of the past market supplies and show the Total number of live animals of all kinds received during the past week at the New-York City yards, 17,724. Total number received the previous week, 15,235, being a increase of 2,489, wholly on sheep and swine.

Of the 3,680 fresh bullocks received during this week, 3,323 were taken to the Washington Yards, Forty-fourth-street; 300 were sold at the Bergen yards, at the terminus of the Erie Railroad; 11 were yarded at BROWNING'S; 19 at O'BRIEN'S, on Sixth-street; and 27 at CHAMBERLAIN'S yards, on Robinson-street.

Most of the past week's business has been done at Forty-fourth-street, few animals going to the other markets.

Of the 3,323 bullocks yarded at Forty-fourth-street, this week, so far as we could ascertain their origin from owners and salesmen, and from the yard-books, 354 head came from Ohio, 181 from New-York, 182 from Indiana, 1,660 from Illinois, 17 from Pennsylvania, 663 from Iowa, 186 from Missouri, and 104 from Kentucky.

More than one half the cattle are now coming from Illinois. Iowa also sends in freely, while our own State holds back.

The 3,623 beeves yarded at Forty-fourth-street and at Bergen Hill came in by the following routes: Erie Railroad, 780; Hudson River Railroad, 1,693; Harlem Railroad, 6; Camden and Amboy Railroad, 110; Hudson River Boats, 142; and New-Jersey Central Railroad, 983.

The Hudson River Railroad continues to bring most of the cattle, although the New-Jersey Central Road, connecting with what is called the Southern route, makes a good show this week.

THE CATTLE SALES YESTERDAY AND TO-DAY.

This is now the fifth week in which we can quote but a slight variation in the price of beef, taking quality into account. The market opened pretty lively yesterday morning, as there was every prospect of a rain, and butchers were in haste to make their purchases. For some of the best animals 10c. ℔ ℔. was paid, but good killing steers were plenty at 9c.@9½c., at which prices many beeves were sold. The rain coming on about noon put a damper upon the operations, and little business was done in the afternoon. Nor was the weather any better this morning—a heavy northeast rain-storm still prevailing. Butchers, however, in want of beef, visited the yards this morning, and made their purchases, with less of chaffering, and less examination of the cattle, than as though it were pleasant. There were only about 3,100 bullocks in the yards—some 250 head having been sold on Sunday and Monday. Those offered yesterday and to-day were all taken before night-fall, just about satisfying the wants of butchers and a few feeders.

Taking the average of the entire transactions of this week's market, yesterday's sales being included in those of to-day, and setting down those of last week for comparison, we have the following:

	To-day.	Last week.
Premium cattle........	None.	None.
First quality..........	9½c.@10c.	9½c.@10c.
Medium quality........	8 c.@ 8¾c.	8c. @ 8¾c.
Poor quality..........	7½c.@ 8c.	7c. @ 8c.
Poorest quality.......	6½c.@ 7c.	6 c.@ 6½c.
General selling prices..	8c. @ 9¼c.	8 c.@ 9c.
Average of all sales....	— @ 8¾c.	— @ 8¾c.

There was only a shade advance over last week's rates on similar grades, but as a larger proportion of the cattle were in good flesh, the general average is a little higher. It took very fine animals to reach 10c., and this only during the morning of the first day of sales....A very large proportion of the cattle are now coming from the West. Fully one-half of all the cattle at Forty-fourth-street to-day were from Illinois, and more than one-third of the remainder were from Iowa. From both of these States were many lots of fat cattle, some of them a little coarse, but in good killing order. There was a fair sprinkling of stillers, some of them very fat, and sold readily at the highest prices. We noticed an unusually large number of bulls, many of them in good condition. They generally brought 7c.@7½c. ℔ ℔. Some of them were fully ¾ Durham, young and well-formed, and worth far more to some farmer or stock raiser than they brought for beef.

The Albany trade was quite brisk on Monday last. Some 1,300 head went East, and many lots changed hands for this market.

The following extracts from our copious notes made of transactions during the day, will give the distant reader some idea of the character of the sales:

I. BUDLONG sold 49 rather rough 7¼ cwt. Missouri cattle for DONALDSON & KINGSLEY, at $64 50 each, or near 9c. Also, for A. M. VAN CLEEF, 36 Seneca Falls distillery cattle, of fair flesh, rated 7 cwt., for which he got near 9c. One young ¾ grade Durham bull, which should have been sold to a farmer or feeder, brought $75, or 7c. ℔ ℔.

J. H. WILLIAMS, for MCCLUNG & WILLIAMS, 115 Iowa cattle, of 8 cwt., roughish animals, at 8c.@9¼c.

H. MYERS was selling for MCCULLUM & CALDWELL, 80 head of good little Indiana steers, of 6¾ cwt., at 8¼c.@9c.

CHURCH & MCKEE sold for BENTFORD & Co., 23 stillfed bulls from Ohio, of 8 cwt., at about 7½c. They were in good flesh. One of them weighed 2,310 ℔s. at home, and brought $85. His live weight at the yards was 2,085 ℔s.

MEAD & HOLCOMB sold for J. MOSS 64 good 7½ cwt. Ohio steers, at a trifle over 9c.—say 9c.@9¼c. They were a nice lot.

S. ULERY sold for J. T. ALEXANDER, 114 fairish or tidy 7 cwt. Illinois steers, which he run out at 8c. for a few of the roughest, up to 9¼c. for the best.

T. C. EASTMAN sold 66 of J. DALBEY'S Illinois cattle, at 9c. ℔ ℔. on 7¼ cwt. They were a nice lot of good killing steers. Also, with C. W. CONGER, on their own account, 46 head of fine 8¾ cwt. Illinois steers, which they run out at about 9½c., or near $82 each. Most of these were choice animals.

J. A. MERRIT sold 81 medium-fleshed but small Illinois cattle, for ALEXANDER & FITCH. Rated 6¾ cwt., and brought 8c.@9¼c. They would average about 9c.

D. BARNES sold 74 very good Ohio cattle for R. R. SEYMOUR. They would dress 8 cwt., and brought 9c.@10c. They were rated as one of the best lots by buyers of good beef.

J. C. HOAG, for PHELPS & HOLLINSWORTH, 60 pretty good 7 cwt. Illinois cattle. They brought about $65 each, or near 9¼c. ℔ ℔. Also, with his brother, 87 Iowa cattle for WOOLARD & Co. They were a common lot, weighing 7 cwt. and brought 8¼c.

C. G. TEED, for J. MOSS, 65 rather coarse Illinois cattle, rated 7¼ cwt., at 9c.@9¼c.

J. BRYANT, for J. NELSON, 42 cattle, from Clinton County, Ohio. Home weight, 1,560 ℔s. They were a very fair lot, rather above the average of to-day, and brought 8¾c.@9½c. They were shipped from Fayette County, and cost $144 per car-load of 14 cattle each, over the Cincinnati, Wilmington and Zanesville road, thence over the Central Ohio road, and then via the Baltimore road, and so over the Camden and Amboy road. Mr. NELSON finds this route cheaper than the Northern roads.

DOTY & HOFFMAN sold, for C. COLT, 66 fairish 7 cwt. Iowa steers and oxen, at about 9c.

D. CULVER sold for J. MORELAND, 60 Kentucky steers of 8¾ cwt., prime flesh, equal to anything in the market, at $83 each, or about 9½c. ℔ ℔.

MURRAY & GLOVER, for J. T. ALEXANDER, 100 Illinois oxen, of strong 8 cwt., pretty fat, but a little roughish, at 9c.@9½c.

GEO. AYRAULT for E. M. ERWIN, 65 good fair Indiana cattle, fed by himself. They would dress 7¼ cwt., and brought 8c.@9¼c. The lightest sold for $46 each, while eight of the best brought $82 ℔ head.

MILCH COWS.

The cow trade is certainly no worse, nor is it much better, although dealers who had a few on sale to-day thought there was a slight improvement, owing to fewer cows being sent in. The principal places of sale, especially the stalls of O'BRIEN, in Sixth-street, were well filled this morning, and good cows could be bought at low prices—from $5 to $10 ℔ head lower than this time last year. Country people can still find better markets for their cows near home than in this City.

VEAL CALVES.

Although not so largely in excess of the requirements of butchers as last week, still the pens were quite crowded to-day, and it required an effort on the part of sellers to dispose of them all. The prices are no better than last week, viz.: 4c.@5½c. for fair to good veals, and 6c. for prime, with an occasional fat, handsome one at 6½c. Large numbers of thin, light calves, young and old, are sold by the head without weighing at $1@$2 50 each, or 2c.@3c. ℔ ℔., live weight.

SHEEP AND LAMBS.

In consequence of larger receipts and a dull demand, sheep have declined about ¼c. ℔ ℔. live weight. The stock now coming in is about all sheared, and may be quoted at 5c.@5½c. ℔ ℔. live weight, for fair to good, and 6c. for prime extra sheep. Lambs sell slower in consequence of cold weather, when veal is eaten more freely. There was very little demand for sheep to-day, making a dull market. BROWNING reports the following receipts of sheep and lambs at his Sixth-street Market for the past week: From Ohio, 1,775 brought in—786, by C. S. Grub; 586, by Reynolds & Co.; 203, by J. Thomas; and 200, by M. Mitchell. From New-York, 165, brought in by N. Van Wagoner—45 by D. K. Tripp, and 36 by J. A. Bain. From New-Jersey, 334 brought in—12, by J. Craig; 98, by G. B. Holcomb; 13, by E. Hunt; 10, by J. A. Blair; 33, by J. Bellis; 45, by P. A. Bloom; 20, by R. Bellis; 21, by H. Voorhies; 13, by Mayberry & Craig; 13, by T. S. Cathers; 23, by L. Bellis; and 23, by D. Kent—making a total of 2,274.

The pens contained quite sufficient numbers this morning for the wants of buyers who were rather slow in making their purchases. They were paying 25c.@50c. ℔ head less than last week. We noticed one lot of medium sheep at $4 25 ℔ head. The stock was mostly sheared, and brought 5c.@5½c. ℔ ℔., live weight, for medium to good sheep, and 6c. for a few very fine or extra fat animals. Lambs were bringing $3@$5 each.

R. H. HUME, sheep broker, gives sales of 523 head of sheep and lambs, which brought $2,464 79, or an average of $4 71 each. One lot of 385 brought $1,816 29; 128 brought $588 50, and 10 sold for $60.

O'BRIEN & MCGRAW, whose market is located in Sixth-street, near Third-avenue, commenced to enlarge their premises so as to accommodate about 1,000 more sheep. The business at this market has been gradually increasing until the sales pens could not accommodate all the stock sent in, and now another story is being added to their building, with commodious pens for sheep, so that ample room will be provided for selling some 2,000 to 3,000 sheep per week. It is favorably located near the elegant Tompkins Market, now nearly completed. Messrs. O'BRIEN & MCGRAW report the following lots of sheep received since our last report: From New-York, 409 by Capt. McGraw; 42 by E. Hunt; 178 by C. Wilson; 147 by E. Yule. From Massachusetts, 78 by J. H. Rice; 112 by Tobey & Co.; and 145 by J. R. Lawton, making a total of 1,111 head.

Prices have ranged nearly as last week, or a little lower, with slower sales. The following lots were disposed of as follows: 309 head, at $1,272 13; 147 head, $805 67; 101 head, $548 71; 38 head, $215 92; 60 head, $317; 47 head, $307 28; 181 head, $897 12; 92 head, $479; 30 head, sold to DAVENPORT, for shipping to Bermuda, $205 08; making a total of 1,005 head, for $5,047 91, or an average of $5 02 each.

CHAMBERLIN gives 1,721 sheep and lambs, which sold at $4@$5 50 each, with a few extras at $6@$7.

ALLERTON reports 1,319 head as the weekly receipts at his Forty-fourth-street market. They sold rather slower than last week, and at 25c.@37c. ℔ head less price.

SWINE.

Receipts have been larger for a few days past, and the stock has accumulated so that some 1,200 remain unsold. Prices have declined a little, and give indications of falling still further, if the arrivals continue free. At the Western Yards 5,328 hogs are reported for the week, while only about 500 were yarded at Thirty-seventh-street. At the former Yards, G. W. DORMAN, commission broker, reports the following prices:

	Live Weight.	Dead Weight

The Horse Market.

NEW-YORK, Wednesday, May 2, 1860.

At the beginning of the week there remained unsold at Twenty-fourth-street, 789 horses.

Business was brisk up to Monday. One team of coach horses sold at $1,200, and several pairs at $800 to $1,000 ℔ pair. A good inquiry prevailed for roadsters and family horses, at last week's prices—say $200@$250 each. Only a few saddle horses were sold, at $125@$200. First-class work-horses have been firmly held. Some pairs have been sold at $450@$500. Good single horses of this description are selling at $170@$200 each. Several French ponies are on hand and are selling at from $70 to $100 for common. Only one pair of mules in Twenty-fourth-street, held at $300.... The total sales of horses this week amount to 239 head, of which there were sold at

Most of the sales have been made at retail. Omnibus and Railroad Companies are buying more freely. There were very few animals up to last night, when there came in 43 head of Northern horses, which closes up the week, with 718 head remaining at Twenty-fourth-street, unsold. The 1st of May, and the unsettled weather, have checked sales the last two days. The sudden changes of the weather cause a great deal of quinsey and inflammation among fresh horses. Several very fine horses have been lost this season by these diseases.

A LETTER FROM DR. JONES, THE GREAT NATURAL AND SCIENTIFIC OCULIST AND AURIST OF NO. 137 4TH-AV., NEW-YORK.

Fellow-countrymen and friends far and near: After mature deliberation, I feel it a duty to you and myself to depart from the generally recognized course of medical men in embracing the most speedy method of making known to all mankind a matter which to them is of more than vital importance. Endowed by nature with an extraordinary power to detect and cure diseases peculiar to the Eye and Ear, we have also embraced every advantage to be obtained from the best Medical Colleges of both schools, as well as the Hospitals and Eye and Ear Institutions of every civilized country, hence we have prepared ourself with every knowledge, medically and surgically, for treating all the diseases of the Eye and Ear with greater success and without pain than any other physician or number of physicians or Institution on the face of the globe. If you should ask us why we possess this superior knowledge, towering above all others, in truth we would answer that Nature endows each of her children with a superior capacity for some particular occupation or profession. She [Nature] made us a physician, with a superlative power over the ills peculiar to those delicate organs of sense the Eye and Ear. But Nature will not fit a man for a physician; therefore we have taken the collegiate course that makes ordinary physicians, i. e., graduated in the Old-School Medical College; but 'tis said by many "the New School is the best." Well, we have gone through and received its authority also. But all the science, art and knowledge that can be acquired in a regular Allopathic and Homeopathic College will not make any man a skillful Oculist and Aurist. Therefore, we have availed ourself of the knowledge to be acquired at the best Eye and Ear Colleges of Europe, and have been at the head of one for several years, thus acquiring a thorough knowledge of the practical as well as the theoretical. If any doubt our veracity, our diplomas and documents hang in our office. Hence we claim to be the only medical man in America who has the requisite and peculiar knowledge necessary to make a skillful and successful Eye and Ear Doctor. And with all the pathies that we have mastered, and with a great deal of labor and patience and practice, we have discovered what we can with propriety call Curapatay. Our treatment is our own—the result of all our studies, observation and experience, and is without pain or danger; our fees reasonable. To distant persons who may not wish to come to our office, we can send them remedies for from $15 to $30 per package, with full directions, by mail or express, on receipt of the money, and a plain statement of their case, addressed like this: Dr. JONES, No. 137 4th-av., New-York. With our experience and a few facts from the patient, we can send what your case demands. We have a perfect variety of artificial Eyes, which we insert without operation or pain, to move and appear like the natural eye. We have artificial Ear drums to suit any case—an Ear drum is needed by all persons who, on holding their nose and mouth shut, can force their breath out of their ear. The Ear drum improves the hearing immediately. Sent by mail on receipt of $15 for one, $25 for two. We have the most perfect case of Surgical Instruments in America, and we are solicitous of all operations that others cannot perform. The operations which to many are impossible to us are easy. The diseases which to many are incurable, we cure every day. We have spent half a fortune in getting our profession; the other half we have laid out in the best instruments known that can add to the success of our profession, and there is no improvement in Surgery or Medicine but what I have. Our office and our treatment shall excel anything of the kind in the world. We challenge a world of doctors to compare or compete with us. We have resolved to keep our light under a bushel no more, hence we break the fetters of old fogyism, and proclaim to the afflicted far and wide what we can do. Office and address,

JOHANNES A. JONES, M. D.,

He inserts NEW GLASSES of superior quality, in old frames, and solicits the patronage of all in want of his articles.

He warrants all spectacles purchased of him to suit the sight for five years, or change the glasses without extra charge.

THE TROTTING STALLION KEMBLE JACKSON, JR., will stand the ensuing season for a limited number of mares, at the stable of William A. Forbes, in Sheffield, Berkshire County, Mass., (near Great Barrington,) at $20 the season, and $30 to insure.

He is a chestnut sorrel, 16 hands high, 7 years old this season, sired by Kemble Jackson, known by all sporting men in New-York and Long Island as being the best and fastest trotting stallion in the world when living.

Kemble Jackson, Jr., is an untrained horse, but I think no horse of his age can beat him 4 miles and repeat to 250-pound wagons. All that is asked is for judges to examine him and his stock. They speak for themselves.

Mares sent from any distance will be kept on the farm at $5 per month—all accidents at the risk of the owner.

NOTE.—The failure of IRON as a remedy for DYSPEPSIA, a bad state of the blood, and the numerous diseases caused thereby, has arisen from the want of such preparation of IRON as shall enter the stomach in a protoxyd state, and assimilate at once with the blood. This want the PERUVIAN SYRUP supplies, containing, as it does, IRON in the only form in which it is possible for it to enter the circulation. For this reason the PERUVIAN SYRUP often radically cures diseases in which other preparations of IRON and other medicines have been found to be of no avail.

The experience which we have had of the PERUVIAN SYRUP, (Protoxide of Iron,) and the evidences which have been exhibited to us of its great success in the cure of many diseases, satisfy us that it is a medicinal agent of remarkable power, and deserving the attention of invalids.

TO ADVERTISERS.

The enlargement of the circulation of the TIMES is at the present moment so rapid as to render it imperative that advertisements intended for the daily issue should be sent in at the earliest possible moment. Announcements which fail to reach the office before nine o'clock P. M., lose all the advantages of classification under the heads to which readers are accustomed to refer. It is, therefore, quite as important to the advertisers as to ourselves, to have that hour the latest for the reception of their notices.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The steamship Canada, from Liverpool on the 21st ult., with Queenstown advices by telegraph to the 22d, arrived at Halifax last evening. Among other matters thus received, we learn that no decision had been rendered by DOWLING, the referee in the late contest for the Championship; but that in answer to the statement of that person, to the effect that the Americans had interposed and constrained him to terminate the fight, GEO. WILKES had addressed a letter to the London Times, denying the statement broadly, and claiming the belt for the American Champion. Both combatants enunciate the idea of the battle being drawn, and assert their wish for a fresh encounter. Large sums of money have been contributed on the London and Liverpool Stock Exchanges and elsewhere for the benefit of SAYERS. In a contest between the American LYNCH, and the Englishman SHAW, for the Championship of the "Light Weights," the latter had been victorious. Parliamentary proceedings lacked interest. The command of the Great Eastern had been assigned to Capt. VINEHALL, of the Peninsular and Oriental Company's service. The Count DE MONTEMOLEN, we learn from Spain, with his son and his secretary, had been arrested. The report that the Emperor of France will visit Savoy this Summer is confirmed.

The rival houses at Charleston failed to make yesterday famous for either peace or progress. The Sectional Convention met only to adopt the platform reported by a majority of the Committee in the National Convention, and to adjourn with the aim of holding a secret session, at which the propriety of nominating a candidate is to be discussed. The National Convention proceeded with its balloting, the votes during the morning session not materially varying from the figuies of Tuesday; one Virginia and one North Carolina delegate, however, successively reinforcing the ranks of DOUGLAS. At the evening session the Tennessee delegation abandoned JOHNSON, and supported DOUGLAS, thus giving that candidate a very large majority of the Convention; but still considerably less than the 202 votes required by the two-thirds rule, to elect. With this power in their hands, the supporters of the Illinois Senator are determed either to force his nomination, or an adjournment of the Convention to the 25th of June, at Baltimore. It is impossible, of course for the opposite interests, even if combined, to effect a nomination, so long as the Douglas men hold together. The balloting resumed at 5 o'clock continued until 8 P. M., when the Convention adjourned.

The Overland Pony Express supplies us with advices from Utah to April 14. Lieut. MULLAN, whose wagon road party was at the northward, and who had lost all his animals through the intense cold, had sent to Camp Floyd for a fresh supply, but had to be denied. The troops in the Territory were in motion, complying with the recent general order for their removal. Hopes are entertained that the efforts of Gen. JOHNSTON at Washington may prevent the departure of the whole army. Gov. CUMMING has written to the Department in regard to the lawlessness and disorder prevalent in the Territory—urging the return of the Federal Judges, the legalization of the acts of the Mormon Court of Probate, or some other measure, to restore the supremacy of the laws.

On Tuesday afternoon, the Quadrennial Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, now in session at Buffalo, appointed Committees on the Bible Cause, Temperance, Temporal Economy, the Pastoral Address, the order of the Discipline, and Religious Exercises. A motion was carried to appoint a Committee to investigate the charges against the Wisconsin Conference. A resolution in favor of altering the Discipline, so as to render the office of Presiding Elder compatible with a pastoral charge, was referred. It was determined that nine members of either of the Standing Committees should constitute a quorum for the transaction of business. The session yesterday was mainly occupied with the appointment of Standing Committees. Among the Special Committees appointed was one to consider the question of divorce and remarriage.

The Senate held a brief session yesterday, at which Mr. DAVIS caused his territorial resolutions to be made the special order for Monday next. Some executive business was acted upon prior to adjournment. In the House, Mr. SHERMAN announced that the Tariff bill would be called up to-day, and that he should move that the speeches of the ensuing debate should be strictly confined to the measure. Resolving itself into Committee of the Whole, the House listened to Mr. ENGLISH of Indiana, who, with a view of participating at a long range in the doings at Charleston, descanted on the actual state of the Democratic Party, admonished at once the regulars and the bolters of the solemn responsibility they were incurring in assuming their present attitude of hostility. He predicted however, that the clouds now lowering over the Democratic house must shortly be dissipated by effulgent sunshine—and moonshine. Mr. HUTCHINS, of Ohio, afterward made a little speech on Slavery; and Mr. SMITH, of North Carolina, deprecated the present excitement, and begged for a recurrence to the principles underlying the Compromise of 1850. The House, upon the Committee rising, adjourned.

The election of city officers in Philadelphia on Tuesday resulted in the general success of the "People's Ticket." Mayor HENRY is reëlected by a majority of 816. The Democratic candidate for Comptroller, Mr. DOWNING, has 120 majority. There are good working majorities for the People's Party in both the Select and Common Councils.

Mr. JOSEPH P. BRADLEY resumed his argument for the defense, in the case of HARDEN, on trial at Belvidere, N. J., upon a charge of poisoning his wife, on Tuesday afternoon. He concluded at 5¾ o'clock, having occupied about nine hours. The Court then adjourned to yesterday morning.

The members of Dr. CHEEVER's Church met again last evening in the lecture-room, in which their discussions have heretofore been held, and resumed the argument of the question on which the pastor and the trustees are now at issue. The features of the evening were an exceedingly bitter reply by Dr. CHEEVER to the arguments applied to him by his assailants, and a speech in answer to his, just as bitter, by Mr. HALL. The meeting stands adjourned until to-night, when, it is supposed, there will be a final disposition of the question.

At the regular meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners yesterday, several appointments and changes were made in the force; and the Sanitary Squad presented a long list of presentations of places containing nuisances which needed to be removed to preserve the public health.

The Board of Education met yesterday afternoon, and adjourned for the want of a quorum to the third Wednesday of this month.

The Stock market fell off yesterday morning ¾@1 ₱ cent. on the general speculative list, and then recovered at the Second Board. New-York Central 78¾ at the close, Panama 144½ and Rock Island 65½. Exchange steady. No change in Money rates.

The sales of Cotton reached 1,000 bales, at uniform rates. Flour was somewhat brisker, yet not generally dearer. Wheat was inactive. Corn was in request. Provisions, Sugars and Rice attracted rather more attention. Coffee and Teas were quiet. Hay, Hops, Tallow and Spirits Turpentine were salable and buoyant. Other branches of trade presented no noticeable changes. There were only 383 vessels of all classes in port.

The Live Stock markets have been well supplied during the past week, and business has generally been pretty brisk....Beeves numbered 3,100 head at the great cattle market on Tuesday and Wednesday, and the prices varied but little from the former week. There was a little advance on the best qualities, and all the cattle were sold. Total beeves for the week 3,680, or 400 less than the previous week....Milch cows are selling a little quicker, at about former rates. They are coming in sufficiently plenty....Veal calves are still rather a drug, but by dint of hard work all were sold, to-day, at last week's rates, or 4c.@5c. ₱ ℔, live weight, for fair to good, and 6c. for prime....Sheep and lambs sell slower. The cold weather and abundance of veal and pork has lessened the demand for mutton. The stock was not all sold, and a decline of ¼c. ₱ ℔., live weight, may be noted....Hogs are coming in more freely, and sell a little lower. There is a surplus on hand.

Affairs in Utah.

The letters of our correspondents in Utah, published yesterday, present an interesting picture of the existing state of things in Mormondom. The figure which the United States cut in the affairs of the Territory, is a mixture of the comical and the absurd, which if it could be well put on the boards of a popular theatre, would make the fortune of the enterprising manager. We sent an army out, two years ago, to reduce the Mormons to subjection enforce our laws, and make our Courts respected. It has been so far successful in its mission as to put an end to all open rebellion; but there is no other mode of setting Governments at defiance, in which our fellow-citizens of that region do not still indulge. Not that the presence of the army is disagreeable to them; they are, on the contrary, so anxious to have it stay that a careless observer might come to the conclusion that they were penitent sinners, kissing the rod which has been the instrument of their chastisement and salvation. Their devotion to the ministers of our will is, however, due neither to loyalty nor to fear, but to that common-place instinct which makes every man who has cabbages for sale glad to find a purchaser. The camp is a good market for vegetables and forage; the profits of the Mormon farmers on the sales of these articles to the troops are said to reach half a million of dollars per annum; and under the circumstances they are, as our correspondent naively informs us, "very desirous the army should remain."

More than this, they are determined that we shall not forgive them; that we shall not put aside our wrath; that we shall not sheathe our swords and look pleasant. They won't have our peace and fellowship at any price. They insist upon being treated as alien enemies, and menaced with paymasters and courts-martial. Sooner than have us withdraw our troops, they are determined to "originate some new difficulty." They are a practical people, and much as they would enjoy the honor of being rated on the books of the Confederacy as "law-abiding citizens," and left to govern themselves in their own sweet way, they enjoy a good market for potatoes and corn a great deal more. Never were the honors of belonging to a great Confederacy so lightly treated. Never was punishment so provokingly received. Our heavy hand is borne as a gentle caress; our direst menace is received as a real and substantial endearment. The history of revolts and revolutions furnishes no precedent for the treatment of such provoking submission. The Irish magistrates had not more reason to be puzzled when a pauper, convicted of disorderly conduct, implored them to pass upon him any sentence they pleased, only not to make him "a poor-law guardian," than the officials who are charged with the high mission of converting Mormons into "free and enlightened citizens."

Their ingenuity is not less remarkable than their practicability. They have managed to adopt both the "twin relics," and can exhibit them in a state of hearty activity. The Southerners have only been charged by their worst enemies with the nourishment of one of these interesting children of barbarism. They hold slaves, but they confine themselves each to one wife. The Mormons marry many wives, and now keep slaves into the bargain. They have discovered one other race, besides the negroes, which is the better for being flogged and kept to hard labor—namely, the Indians of the Utah Valley. These benighted individuals "are now," says our correspondent, "bought and sold like the negroes of the South," and of course, "are vastly better off as servants than as free." We hear a great deal from newspaper correspondents, whom courteous planters initiate into the mysteries of plantation life, of the patriarchal character of the establishments of which they thus enjoy the hospitality. But they will now confess that for a close, accurate and successful imitation of the real original patriarch, the Mormons may defy competition. The Mormon farmer, with many wives and several bondsmen residing under the same roof, subject to his sovereign will, and in happy ignorance of habeas corpus and trial by jury, is, beyond all question, the only genuine article.

They have also of late hit upon a mode of bringing the United States Courts into contempt, which the members of the Tombs bar will certainly chuckle over. They have established a Probate Court, and given it jurisdiction of all criminal offences, in defiance of the United States law. They seize upon the worst criminals of the neighborhood, bring them before this tribunal, have them committed, and then get them to apply to the United States Judge for a habeas corpus—which is, of course, at once issued. Upon a hearing, the prisoners must either be discharged or the jurisdiction of the Probate Court acknowledged,—and this wholesale release of thieves and murderers is thus plausibly ascribed to the stiff-neckedness and crotchets of the United States officials.

On the whole, the relations of the Federal Government with this interesting people are as satisfactory as their condition is hopeful. The future is rendered all the brighter by the arming of the militia for resistance to the Polygamy bill now before Congress. For the present, they have nothing to desire. MICKEY FREE himself might envy their state. They have as many wives, and own as many "little Injuns" as they please. To the charms of polygamy they have added the well-known political advantages attendant upon the enslavement of "an inferior race." The army that was sent to curse has stayed to bless them. Instead of treating them to fire and sword, it consumes their vegetables and pays for them. The courts we had established for the purpose of interfering with their sacred institutions, have been converted by the operation of our own laws into liberators of horse thieves. What wonder if BRIGHAM YOUNG be an elated, presumptuous man? The wonder would be if he were not. He has a nation of fanatics at his disposal, the good things of this life in profusion, and a field for experiments in the manufacture of "institutions" such as no law-giver has ever before enjoyed.

The Effects of Excommunication.

The devout believers in the Papal infallibility, whose faith is apt to increase in the direct ratio of their distance from the immediate sphere of the Papal authority, take a very high tone with the miserable skeptics who venture to doubt whether VICTOR EMANUEL II. will be much the worse for the excommunication by implication to which he has just been subjected. They assure this incredulous world of railways and telegraphs that the effects of the Papal bull are not the less sure because they are spiritually accomplished; that PIUS moves in a mysterious way his curses to perform; and that although the liberated Italians may escape the tax-gatherers and the torturers of St. Peter, they will none the less be overtaken, sooner or later, by the avenging terrors of the Church.

In illustration of these profound truths, the dreadful examples of the house of Tudor, in England, and of the house of Savoy, in Italy, are held up to the amazement and the instruction of mankind. We are assured that the family of HENRY VIII. expiated the malediction pronounced upon that heretical prince; and that the household of VICTOR EMANUEL II. has already been struck by the thunderbolts of Heaven, in consequence of the excommunication incurred by that sovereign for laying profane hands on the Church property in Sardinia. This excommunication, which was only "incurred," and never actually undergone, having been equally incurred by the Government of "Her Most Catholic Majesty of Spain," whose family have gone on increasing and multiplying ever since sacrilegious hands were laid on the overgrown property of the religious orders, it is slightly difficult to understand why the deaths of VICTOR EMANUEL's mother, wife and brother should be charged to the account of his offences committed in behalf of popular education and the public revenue. We suppose we shall hardly be expected to belive that the Duke of Genoa and his relations fell victims "by anticipation" to the annexation of the Emilia.

The case of the TUDORS is hardly a more fortunate one for the advocates of the awfulness of excommunication. The TUDORS were twice and most tremendously cursed: once in the person of HENRY VIII., and once in the person of his daughter, ELIZABETH. Of course, if they wilted and wore away under the effects of the Papal malison, it is reasonable to suppose that their enemies, upon whom the Papal benison rested in all its fullness, must have flourished and fattened upon the manna of the Vatican. Let us look at the facts. The TUDORS were banned for their heresy. At the same time PHILIP II. of Spain and CATHARINE of France were especially blessed for fidelity to the Church. Four successive TUDORS reigned in England after the Reformation. Four of the blood of PHILIP filled the throne of Spain. HENRY VIII., EDWARD VI., and ELIZABETH saw England grow up under their sceptres into a great maritime, colonial and military power. The only one of their blood who made her peace with the Church, MARY, lived a wretched life, and died after a brief and desolate reign, with "Calais printed on her heart," having lost the last foothold of English power in France. Excommunicated ELIZABETH struck down the power of Catholic Spain with a blow from which it has never recovered, and planted in the New World firmly the seeds of Protestant America. The TUDORS went out in one of the most glorious reigns of English history.

PHILIP II. failed in the dream of his life; his eldest son, if not murdered by himself, died a madman under his own hands; his other issue dwindled away, and his crown passed to an imbecile voluptuary, who lolled his life away among the court-ladies, sent a Little Armada to be contemptuously annihilated on the Rocks of Kinsale, expelled 600,000 of his most industrious subjects from the kingdom, and was forced to acknowledge the independence of Protestant Holland. PHILIP IV. provoked the terrible insurrection of Catalonia which transferred that magnificent province for years to France; lowered the position of Spain hopelessly in Europe by the peace of the Pyrenees, which permitted the Catalans to come back to their allegiance in triumph over the royal authority, and surrendered Roussillon and Conflans to LOUIS XIV. Revolted Portugal humbled him at Villa Viciosa; he lost Jamaica and Dunkirk to Protestant CROMWELL, and saw the Spanish flag insulted by Dutch cruisers from the Bay of Biscay to the Indian Ocean. CHARLES II. came a child to the throne, to sign away Portugal forever to the House of Braganza, and half of Spanish Flanders to France. A dismal invalid all his life, he saw his fortresses fall to pieces, and Cadiz left without a garrison or a gun. The art of ship-building perished in Biscay and Galicia; his navy shrank to six rotten frigates; his army to 20,000 men, his revenues to $2,000,000. He died a trembling, childless idiot, seared to death by exorcisms, and bullied by Cardinal PORTO-CARRERO into signing away his monarchy to the grandson of the King of France. The House of PHILIP II. went out in the most disgraceful and ruinous reign which saddens the annals of Spain. Indeed, from the time of PHILIP LE BEL of France, who first laughed at the thunders of the Vatican, down to those of the Duke PHILIP of Parma, who kicked out the Jesuits, and being timidly excommunicated therefor by CLEMENT XIII., caused his "big brothers," the Bourbons of France and Spain, to interfere in his behalf, take away Avignon and Benevento from the poor Pope by force of arms, and compel CLEMENT XIV. to revoke his predecessor's action and abolish the whole Jesuit order, those princes who have made light of the Pope would seem to have flourished exceedingly, while those who have worked the Papal will have generally disappeared, like CATHERINE DE MEDICIS and her miserable progeny, in an odor neither prosperous nor sacred. The first NAPOLEON himself, oddly enough, made his worst and most fatal mistakes only after he had received the full sacrament of marriage from the Church on his union with the pious daughter of the Apostolic Emperor FRANCIS of Austria. Gen. DE LAMORICIERE, in 1848 the most republican of Republicans, has just discovered that modern Revolution is the counterpart of mediæval Islamism, and has accordingly resolved to accept the Papal pay for protecting "civilization" by the bayonets of the murderers of Perugia. PIUS IX. having cursed all the brave men who have fought against Austrian tyranny in defence of their manhood and their rights, will no doubt bless this penitent ex-democrat, just as PIUS V. blessed the little army which he sent across the Alps, three centuries ago, with orders to "give no quarter to any Huguenot." The lessons of history, it strikes us, should make the Italians tolerably tranquil in the presence of this prospect. The Founder of Christianity bade his followers bless their enemies, and do good to those that used them despitefully; and Providence certainly has looked with no especial favor on the Christian bishops who have tried to fit the keys of heaven to the locks of other people's strong-boxes, and to arm their policemen with the terrors of the archangelic host.

The New Steamship Bill.

If the constantly recurring catastrophes by fire, tempest and explosion, which characterize our water transit, fail by reason of their very familiarity to demand legislative interference—if the often-repeated tale of horror is too threadbare to excite the popular demand for reform, it is still likely that a marked improvement will arise from another source. The restlessness of our locomotive people is crowding our ocean and inland steamers, and demanding new lines and wider accommodations every year; almost every man is a traveler; the law-making public is legislating—not for the forlorn inmates of rat-infested hospitals and tinder tenement houses, but for itself. On its own head will fall the penalties of neglect and indifference.

And as the law-makers tread the decks of steamers, they will need no expert to unfold the probable causes of danger. Let them but look and tremble:—a single compartment with a wooden shell—heaven only knows how weak and rotten—quivering with each stroke of the engine—between them and death:—fires roaring and lamps swinging within the very embrace of seasoned combustibles—boiler-plate, of questionable tenacity, straining under undue pressure—fire pumps and hose, bilge pumps and life boats lashed and stowed away for the voyage like so much cargo or permanent ballast;—sailing vessels, without light or signal, bearing down into our very path:—should sudden danger overtake us, what are the probabilities of deliverance? The chances are that there will be a collision—that a hole in any part of the hull will admit the sea to every cranny of the fabric—that the furnace fires will be quenched before the steam-pumps can be set at work—that the ship will founder before all the boats can be cleared and launched—that half the boats launched will be swamped—that all the boats will not hold half the people—that there is no material for rafts—that the vessel will take fire—that the fire will get the advantage before the pumps can be got at work and the hose adjusted—that the deficient means of overcoming danger, and especially the delay in applying the means provided, will give accident and carelessness the winning start of defence and caution.

Urgent and reasonable as are the demands of the case, it is found practically impossible to meet them fully and fairly with legislative enactments. Sectionalism, State rights, spoils, corruption, selfishness, and the whole catalogue of personal and party motives and influences, menace alike the interests of the white man and the negro—the Atlantic traveler and the Red River slave. A bill, however, is now before Congress, to further provide for the safety of passengers in steam vessels; and it has certainly succeeded by its strong and wise general provisions, and by its apparently satisfactory, but not vital amendments, in steering clear of uselessness, as well as of the probability of death at the hands of section and party. It is not all that could be desired, but it is more than we yet dare confidently expect from Washington. Like improvement in the adaptation of steam and iron, improvement in the provisions for safety is a work of slow development, and will always lag behind professional demonstration and scientific teaching. We shall have to be content with a little gain in each department every year.

Among the important features of the bill are these: Ferry, tug and freight boats are brought under the amended act of 1852, so far as relates to licensed pilots and engineers, inspected boilers, hulls and machinery, lights and signals, and provisions against fire, etc., the importance of which to the safety of all navigation is obvious. The provisions and penalties as to carrying gunpowder and other unsafe materials are decided improvements on the old law. A very important section relates to compelling all vessels, boats, rafts and other craft to show lights at night, and to bringing all sailing vessels under a common system of lights and signals. This must greatly reduce the frequent and fatal accidents from collision. One of the most essential and thorough provisions of the bill is, that all steamers hereafter built, and navigating any ocean-route over 400 miles long, shall be fitted with at least three water-tight bulkheads—two inclosing the engine and boilers, and the other nearer the stem. No opening whatever is allowed in these bulkheads below the lower deck of a double-decked vessel, and the two openings allowed above the lower deck in each bulkhead are not to exceed fourteen superficial feet in size, and are to be fitted with complete shutters and fastenings of a metal not liable to corrosion. A fair observance of this provision would take away half the peril of the present system. Another section provides that each compartment of the ocean vessels mentioned shall have two lifting pumps, each of a capacity equal to a five by ten inch cylinder, to be worked by hand from the deck, in addition to the pumps specified by the law of 1852.

Other important provisions, as to the limit of passengers, the number and outfit of boats materials for making rafts, inspection of the soundness of timbers by actual test, certificates of inspection, increase of salaries, and other matters relative to the means of safety and the uniform and just execution of the law, are detailed in the bill.

Better provisions for the prevention and immediate extinguishing of fire are not mentioned in the bill, although the necessities of the case are most urgent and imperative. Nothing can be more dangerous than to allow a fire which a timely bucket of water could quench, to get five minutes' start. The case of the Austria terribly illustrates this fact, and almost every steamboat burning on our rivers and lakes is an instance of it. It is customary on most of our elegant steamers to place out of sight, in the obscurest recesses, all such unsightly things as leather hose and ugly pumps and pipes. If the fastidious passengers could only remember that they may be encompassed by the very jaws of destruction, the sombre coils and festoons of hose, and the grim presence of any amount of brakes and pistons, meeting the eye at every turn, would be more comely to their sight than the most florid adornments of artists and decorators. We believe that so long as vessels are built of combustible materials, the means of instantly extinguishing fires should be as complete and ready for service as if nothing else were to be done except to put out a conflagration each minute of the day. If the subtle element gets twenty minutes' start in the race,—and it can hardly do less on many of our ships,—the Brooklyn Water-works engines would hardly gain upon it; but if an inch stream of water can be made to strike any fire that is likely to occur on a steamer, within a minute of its kindling, the danger is already removed. We believe that some provisions of this nature might have been incorporated in the bill before Congress; but the public may be thankful if so much as it does provide is made a law.

A Committee on Bad Smells.

Alderman BOOLE, whose exertions on behalf of the City are untiring, offered a resolution on Monday, that a Committee of two, one from each Board of the Common Council, be appointed, to travel whithersoever they pleased, in company with "a savant," to be selected by the New-York Sanitary Association, in search of sanitary regulations, applicable to this City. The resolution, we are sorry to say, was laid over, but we trust it will at a very early day be taken up and acted upon. We think there are, at least, two members of the Common Council who are fairly entitled to a pleasant tour to Europe this Summer, at the expense of the City, and if we know anything of the feelings of the tax-payers, they will be delighted to concur in the proposal. The only hesitation about it which can find a place in any well-balanced mind, will be due to the fact that the deputation will not be able to rid themselves of the reflection that they are traveling with other people's money, and they may thus be led to deny themselves many little comforts. We acknowledge that New-York can learn a great deal from European cities in the matter of sanitary science; and we must say we think a pair of Common Councilmen would be just the fellows to bring us home all we ought to know. Their great familiarity with European languages, and with the ways of European society and governments, and their scientific attainments, would at once place them in the most agreeable relations with European officials; while the habits of observation, skill in classification of facts, and severely judicial tone of mind acquired by rigid training and great culture, would of course render their report a most invaluable contribution to the work of sanitary reform.

If we are asked whom of all the members of the two bodies we consider to be best fitted for this great enterprise, we confess we have no hesitation in designating Messrs. BOOLE and VAN TINE. We have come to this conclusion after a good deal of deliberation, which we think contrasts very favorably with the indecent haste with which our contemporary, the Tribune, has disposed of the whole matter. Both of these gentlemen would, we have no doubt, enjoy the trip as much as anybody else; and they have claims upon the consideration of the municipality which no other members can urge. They have had a good deal of very pleasing, social intercourse with foreigners, both of them having figured in the Committee of Reception which tortured the unfortunate MOHAMMED PASHA in 1858—and Mr. BOOLE is now of the number of those who are about to impress the name of New-York upon the memories of the Japanese Embassy.

Constantinople is a city which all sanitary reformers ought to visit, as it is in possession of peculiar scavengering arrangements in the shape of troops of wild dogs, which look after the garbage and offal, and which would deserve the special attention of our Committee. The habits of these interesting animals, (the dogs, we mean;) the admirable manner in which they have divided Pera and Stamboul into districts; the facility with which they cause the sweepings of shambles and the cold victuals of private families to disappear without trouble or expense to the municipal authorities, are all matters on which the Commission would have to report largely. Moreover, the Turkish capital affords the means of doing what cannot not be done elsewhere—making a map distinguishing by colors the whole number of foul odors by which a large city can be infested, and indicating, by reference in the margin, the probable cause of each smell. In this great work Messrs. BOOLE and VAN TINE would of course obtain an amount of assistance from the Turkish authorities which would not be afforded to any body else we could send, and which would be none the less useful in being due to fear and not to gratitude. Men who have forced a high Turkish official to eat pork and drink wine in their presence have him forever after in their power. They have but to reveal the damning fact, and he becomes a pariah, an outcast. What these gentlemen can accomplish through the Admiral's instrumentality, we leave, therefore, to the reader's imagination.

We hope the resolution will at once be taken up, as we should like to see the deputation on its way as early in the season as possible. We may add that we do not think $10,000 would be a cent too much to allot for their expenses. The City can easily spare it, and such a map as we have mentioned would alone be well worth the money.

JOHN BULL AND THE PRIZE FIGHT.—The London Times thinks that no nations destitute "of great qualities" could have exhibited such a spectacle as the late prize fight. One "great quality" which was not illustrated on that occasion is the boasted British love of justice and fair play. Nothing could be more grossly unfair than the conduct of the English on the ground, unless it be that of the Press and public after the fight was over. The moment it became evident that SAYERS was to be beaten, his friends rushed in and broke up the ring. When HEENAN persisted in continuing it, until his antagonist failed to come to time,—and then claimed the victory which he had fairly won, the referee—an acknowledged partisan of the British Champion—was found to have disappeared. He afterwards insisted on declaring it a drawn battle, because neither had yielded at the time he left. And when HEENAN demands a fresh trial, it is refused on the pretext that both parties have sufficiently proved their endurance and skill.

So far as the men themselves, their friends, backers, and the sporting public at large are concerned, we care not a straw for all this. But we refer to it as developing a trait of British character for which John Bull has hitherto professed a specially lofty contempt. It shows that the sporting public in England, which embraces a much larger portion of decent society than with us, are capable of any meanness and of any injustice to screen their champion from the discredit of having been beaten by an American.

The City Railroad Bills.

The Buffalo Express, which started by rejoicing over the injuries inflicted on New-York City by the passage of the Railroad bills, as a just punishment for its hostility to the Pro Rata scheme, now changes its tone. It protests against our assumption that Buffalo has no interest in the local affairs of our City. On the contrary, it insists that Buffalo "has an interest in every improvement that tends to public accommodation" in New-York, and "especially in its facilities for street locomotion." Whether the Express means to say that the representatives of Buffalo in Albany have an "interest" in the specific bills passed, we do not know, but it goes on to say:

"The TIMES and other journals in New-York have arrayed themselves in bitter hostility against street Railroads. Their denunciations are loud and long, and yet we have not been able to discover any good reason for the warfare that has been inaugurated. The convenience of the City demands them. They were recommended by the Governor and provided for by the Legislature, and if the franchises created are valuable to those holding them, it is their good fortune, and we trust that their enterprise in this much-needed public improvement will be abundantly rewarded. If the City does not derive as much benefit from these franchises as she ought, it is probably the result of an indifference which seems to characterize the mass of its people in regard to most questions of public concernment. The representatives of New-York, with a very limited exception, favored and urged these railroad laws, and it is but reasonable to suppose that they represented the wishes of their constituents in doing so."

The Express talks partly at random and partly with an evident intent to mislead. The TIMES has never opposed street Railroads:—on the contrary, it has devoted twice as much space as any other City journal to the task of showing that we need more Railroads in our streets,—that those now in use are utterly inadequate to the accommodation of the public, that they are badly managed, and that the Legislature ought to grant new charters and authorize the construction of new roads.

But we have also insisted, with equal emphasis and pertinacity, that they should be chartered and constructed with primary reference to the wants and convenience of the public, and not with exclusive regard to the avarice of those "fortunate" enough to get the grants. The Express trusts "their enterprise will be rewarded." It need give itself no uneasiness on this score. Their "enterprise," as the Express styles it, is abundantly able to take care of itself. They have the whole thing into their own hands:—they can build the roads or sell the franchise,—cram their cars or give passengers decent room,—charge the highest prices known in the City without regard to their own expenses,—and manage the whole affair with sole and exclusive reference to their own advantage. If under these circumstances they do not secure their own "reward," they will be more modest and incapable than they have shown themselves hitherto.

The people of this City are, it is quite true, too indifferent to City legislation as a general thing. But in this instance they were neither indifferent nor silent. On the contrary, they protested, openly and unanimously,—not against Railroads,—but against the obnoxious features of the bills in question. They urged the Legislature to make some provision for the public—to require at least the ordinary precautions and safeguards against the power of great monopolies, and to provide some equivalent for the enormous rights they were giving away. Their remonstrances were treated with contempt; their representatives betrayed their trusts, and, by the help of the members from other sections, aided in fastening upon the City these odious and oppressive measures.

SCHILLER IN THE CENTRAL PARK.—The great Schiller Festival of 1859 is not, it seems, to pass away as a tale that is told. Thanks to the poetic patriotism of a number of German gentlemen in this City, an admirable colossal bust of the great German poet and patriot is to become one of the permanent ornaments of our noble Central Park. Our Teutonic population certainly have a right to be represented in the park of the metropolis which owes so much to their industry and energy. New-York is, probably, the third, certainly the fourth German city in the world in point of population, and it is difficult in certain quarters of the capital not to believe one's self within reach of the Elbe, the Oder or the Rhine.

SCHILLER, too, is not less worthy of American than of German homage. The bust to be erected in his honor has been already executed in bronze by a young German artist of this City, Mr. RICHTER, and is now on exhibition over the rooms of the International Gallery, at the corner of Broadway and Fourth-street. It is a most striking and creditable memorial of the great poet: large and masculine in treatment, elevated in expression as becomes its heroic subject. As a specimen of American casting, too, it deserves special notice.

A meeting of the Committee charged with the completion of the monument has been held, and a sum of $250 subscribed towards providing a pedestal for Mr. RICHTER's work. We are sure there can be no doubt that any additional sum which may be found necessary for the purpose will be speedily raised by those who take a real interest in the monumental beauty of our City.

EDUCATION IN HAYTI.—The traditions of the Ashantees relate that when the Lord created the human race one-half black, and the other half white, he gave the two divisions their choice between two huge calabashes. These calabashes—like Portia's caskets in the "Merchant of Venice"—contained the gifts which were to determine the chooser's destiny. The greedy negroes chose the bigger calabash of the two, in which they found only a lump of gold, a lump of iron and a lump of lead. They hadn't the least idea what to do with their prizes—so they went to planting yams and laziness generally. The whites took the lesser calabash, and found in it only a piece of "talking-paper," which put them up to all sorts of inventions. The next that was seen of them they were building ships on the sea-shore, and from that hour dates the white supremacy in the world. The legend is not nearly so foolish as an Ashantee legend might be expected to be; and the present Government of Hayti seems to be acting upon the moral it conveys. President GEFFRARD has just established two new lyceums, and the Haytian Minister in Paris is advertising for Professors to take charge of the various classes about to be opened.

Miscellaneous.

—The beggars of New-York are dexterous enough in all conscience, still they might gather a few hints from those of London. Rev. Mr. BL[illegible], at a meeting lately held in London, gave his experience as a tribute to the skillfulness of their impositions: "Not long since," said he, "a woman took me in by a pitiful story, that her husband had not had a day's work for six months. It was true—on inquiring I ascertained that her husband was a night watchman."

Hon. MASON W. TAPPAN returned to Washington this evening from a flying visit to his home in New-Hampshire.

An effort was made to-day to have a call of the House with a view to secure the attendance of a quorum and proceed with business. It failed, however, and we had another installment of speeches.

THE COVODE COMMITTEE.

The Covode Committee had Col. SHELDON MCKNIGHT, of Detroit, before them this morning, in regard to the Post-office of that City while under the control of Mr. O'FLYNN. Nothing was developed which was not known before. Yesterday they discharged Mr. BEAN, of Ohio, after inquiring of him where the TIMES obtained its information. He replied that inasmuch as Mr. COVODE saw fit to draw out of him the testimony in the presence of the Herald reporter, he thought it right that a correct statement should be published. The Committee sustained the course of the witness. Mr. WENDELL and Postmaster LUCAS are to be called before the Committee again in consequence of recent developments.

From the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, May 2.

Gov. CUMMING has informed the President that Utah is in a condition bordering on anarchy, and some action is therefore necessary on the part of the Government to relieve the Territory from present and impending evils. He alludes to the bands of desperadoes whose conduct renders the tenure of life and property uncertain, and requests either that the Judges will be sent out in place of those who have deserted Utah, or authorize the Probate Courts to exercise the powers claimed by them and granted by the Legislative Assembly, or adopt some other means of safety. He requests that 400 soldiers be retained there, as the withdrawal of the entire army would be injudicious and unjust. Gov. CUMMING states the population of Utah at 52,000 or 53,000, though it is more largely estimated by the Mormons.

Senator DAVIS will, next Monday, reopen the debate on his Slavery declaratory resolutions.

The excitement here, if possible, is on the increase regarding the events at Charleston. Many reports were in circulation this evening—for instance, that GUTHRIE had received 168 votes, which created a great sensation until its falsity was ascertained.

The Democratic and Republican head-quarters are crowded with inquirers.

From the stoppage of public business for two weeks the session of Congress will be doubtless prolonged until the 1st of July.

The President has recognized FREDERICH KUHNE as Consul of the Duchy of Nassau at New-York.

Mr. LANE of Oregon, (Dem.,) gave notice that he should call up to-morrow the Oregon War Debt bill.

Executive session. Adjourned to Friday.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, May 2.

The House met at noon, 123 members being present.

Mr. SHERMAN, of Ohio, (Rep.,) gave notice that he would to-morrow move that the Tariff bill be made the special order of the day, that the debate shall be confined to the subject, and that a vote shall be taken at an early day.

The House went into Committee of the Whole on the State of the Union.

Mr. ENGLISH, of Indiana, (Dem.,) in alluding to the Charleston Convention, said he did not sympathize with those who imperiously demand Cæsar or nobody, nor with the rule-and-ruin spirit too much manifested lately by both wings of the Democratic Party, and to which may be justly attributed the difficulties which now exist. He ventured the prediction that if trouble and disaster ensue the masses will never, and ought not to, forgive those who are rashly and needlessly precipitating this state of affairs on the country. It is not denied that darkness and clouds lower over the Democratic house, but he had an abiding faith that these clouds will pass away, leaving the glorious sun of Democracy shining brightly. Mere political storms have no terror for the party to which he belongs. When the time for action comes, every Democrat will do his duty, according to the circumstances which may surround them. Even if the worst man should be selected for President, he at least would be better than the best man of the Republican Party. There was one essential point about which there was no division in the Democratic ranks; it was eternal, unceasing opposition to the Republicans—there Democrats stand a unit. He then proceeded to speak more particularly on the subject of the Irrepressible Conflict doctrine and negro equality, as he said it was maintained by the Republican Party, which he desired to hold up to the indignation of the masses of the American people. The Democratic Party was the best friend, and the Republican Party the worst enemy of the negro.

A colloquy took place between Messrs. DUNN, COLFAX, ENGLISH and PORTER relative to the constitutional provision of Indiana, touching the exclusion of free negroes.

Mr. HUTCHINS, of Ohio, (Rep.,) said that Mr. SEWARD announced the truth when he explained the "irrepressible conflict" between the two systems of labor. Slavery, Mr. HUTCHINS contended was not only a wrong to the slave and slaveholder, but to the material industry, and the social, educational and religious condition of the people among whom it exists. He argued that the early fathers sought to restrict Slavery wherever practicable.

Mr. SMITH, of North Carolina, (American,) condemned the violent spirit exhibited in debate, and appealed to gentlemen to return to the compromise measures of 1850 as a means of quieting the present political excitement.

The Committee rose. Adjourned.

Letter from Henry Clay.

From the Albany Statesman.

The following letter was written by HENRY CLAY, immediately after the adjournment of the Philadelphia Convention, in 1848. It is now first published from the original in our possession.

On the eve of another Presidential struggle it will be read with interest:

ASHLAND, June 15, 1848.

MY DEAR SIR: Before the receipt of your obliging letter of the 29th ult., I was prepared to expect the event which has since happened at Philadelphia. Your letter conduced to strengthen my anticipation of it. The intelligence of the nomination of Gen. TAYLOR reached me the same day it was made.

I lost the nomination from three causes: First, the course of the Kentucky delegation; second, my very great disappointment in not obtaining, as I had every reason to suppose I should, the support of the Ohio delegation; and third, the persevering adherence of the Massachusetts delegation to Mr. WEBSTER. How such delegates came to be appointed from Kentucky, you doubtless have heard from some of our Kentucky friends at Philadelphia. Never was I more surprised at any occurrence of the kind than I was by the unexpected course of the Ohio delegation. I had received the strongest assurances from the most eminent men in the State, in various forms, that the support of that State would be given to me, and that it would not go for Gen. TAYLOR, if nominated. I was entreated by the Governor, and by several delegates to the Convention, and by various other eminent persons in Ohio, not to decline the use of my name, before I addressed my note to the public. I was informed that some eight or ten of the delegates were chosen expressly to sustain my nomination, and that all who were appointed to support Mr. CORWIN would go for me, upon his declining. Such was the influence on my mind of these assurances and this information, that they constituted a leading motive with me in allowing my name to go before the Convention. And if I had foreseen that Ohio would have pursued the course which she did in the Convention, I never would have consented that my name should have been presented to that body.

I dwell on this subject of Ohio, not in any complaining or repining spirit, but because it is the only important fact, stated in my note to the public, which has not been subsequently sustained.

But, if I have had great cause of surprise, in respect to that State, I have abundant reason for eternal gratitude to the City and State of New-York, and to my numerous faithful, ardent and enlightened friends in them, for their zealous and constant support of me. And to none more than to yourself, for the ability, activity, energy and efficiency which you have displayed throughout the arduous struggle.

The work is done, and I have no alternative but quiet submission. I am relieved from painful suspense, and great anxiety, during the canvass, if I had been nominated, and from fearful responsibility, if I had been elected. I ought not to regret the event, on my own account personally, and I believe there are but few men who can bear it so well. On account of my friends, indeed, I could have wished that it had been otherwise. I deeply regret that I have no way of testifying my great obligations to them; but I hope they will be assured that I shall ever hold them in grateful remembrance.

The nomination of Gen. TAYLOR, as far as I have yet heard in Kentucky, has occasioned much disappointment, and has been coldly received. The papers will tell you, perhaps, otherwise, but they greatly exaggerate. That of Mr. FILLMORE gives entire satisfaction.

As for myself, I shall take no active part in regard to the nomination. Of course, I can never support Gen. CASS. The case of Gen. TAYLOR is not like that of Gen. HARRISON. The former is a purely military man, without any experience whatever in civil affairs. The latter was far more distinguished as a civilian than as a military commander. Gen. TAYLOR is no Whig, or, if he be one, a sort of nondescript Whig, a Whig in name, without the principles of the Whigs. Gen. HARRISON was an open and avowed Whig, in principle, as well as in name.

I presume my residence in a Slave State lost me the nomination. And yet those who could have secured it have allowed one to be nominated who is far more deeply imbued with the doctrines of Slavery, than ever I was, or shall be. Their course resembles that of the Abolitionists of 1844. They complain that they have not got a thorough-going Whig, and when they had got the power to nominate a thorough-going Whig, they would not exercise it.

But I must close with fervent prayers that you may long live in health and happiness, and the enjoyment of every blessing.

With constant and cordial regard. H. CLAY.

The Kent County Conservator says that his Honor, Judge Carmichael, has decided that it is not necessary for postmasters to inspect each issue of a newspaper to see if incendiary sentiments are contained therein; that if the general reputation of a paper is of that character, a postmaster is justified in withholding such paper; and that any postmaster delivering such paper, knowing its character or tendency, renders himself liable to all the penalties enacted for circulating incendiary documents. He also directed the Grand Jury to notify each postmaster in the county of this decision. The several postmasters, in pursuance of this decision, were directed to refuse all applications for the New-York Tribune, the jury deeming that paper an incendiary sheet. Postmasters delivering it will be prosecuted in every case.

In this paper we present to the public unimpeachable testimony establishing the facts that RADWAY'S READY RELIEF, REGULATING PILLS, and RENOVATING RESOLVENT, are not only positive curatives of the sick afflicted with disease, but that they have in many cases proved to be infallible, and have restored the dying patient to robust health after all other means of medication failed.

I have been a cripple for two years in my left leg, hip and hand. I used two boxes of RADWAY'S REGULATING PILLS with the READY RELIEF and RESOLVENT. In two weeks I could walk without my cane, and had the full use of my hand.

A BRILLIANT STORY,
BY
MRS. SOUTHWORTH, WILL BE COMMENCED IN THE NEXT NUMBER
OF
THE NEW-YORK LEDGER.

The remarkable fertility of Mrs. SOUTHWORTH'S genius is evident from the fact that her new Story is the most sparkling and novel which she has ever written. It unfolds the strange and thrilling incidents of the life of a noble English lady, who in her infancy was deprived of her birthright by the treachery of one who should have protected her helpless innocence. The development of the plot is carried forward in a manner which constantly excites the curiosity of the reader, and maintains an unflagging interest in the narrative from the beginning to the end.

GOOD INGREDIENTS AND GOOD COOKING MAKE A GOOD DISH.

MEDICAL.

A GOOD THING, THAT EVERYBODY should have: HUMPHREYS' SPECIFIC HOMEOPATHIC REMEDIES stand confessedly at the head of remedial means for the use of the people. They are alike removed from the poisonous, dangerous and repulsive doses of quackery, or Old School practice; the inconvenience of Water Cure, or the intricate and perplexing obscurities of the usual Homeopathic books and medicines. Consisting of simple specifics for the various diseases to which they are related—put up in the form of simple sugar pellets—and prepared of ingredients neither dangerous nor disgusting, they are the ready aid of the parent or nurse, and the comfort of the complaining and invalid.

They possess these positive advantages: They are harmless; no injury can arise from their use. They are simple; you always know what to take, and how to take it. They are convenient; you can give the proper Sugar Pills at a moment's warning, without hesitation or delay. They are efficient; in thousands of cases disease is arrested at once, and the system freed without prostration or delay.

In rebuilding our factory, years of experience have enabled us to introduce very many improvements, both in the structure of the building and in the machinery, and in getting up our NEW PIANO-FORTE our aim and determination has been to produce an instrument that shall defy competition. Our first artists have cheerfully testified to the great superiority of our NEW SCALE PIANO-FORTES. We cordially invite all to examine for themselves.

STEINWAY & SONS
PATENT OVERSTRUNG GRANDS
AND SQUARE PIANOS

Are now considered the Best Pianos manufactured. Opinion of nearly all the greatest and most prominent Musicians and Artists regarding these instruments:

The undersigned, having personally examined and practically tested the improvement in Grand Pianos invented by H. STEINWAY, in which the covered strings are overstrung above those remaining, do hereby certify:

1. That as a result of the said improvement the voice of the Piano is greatly improved in quality, quantity and power.
2. The sound by Steinway's improvement is much more even, less harsh, stronger, and much better prolonged, than that realized in any other Piano with which we are acquainted.
3. The undersigned regard the improvement of Mr. Steinway as most novel, ingenious and important. No Piano of similar construction has ever been known or used, so far as the undersigned know or believe.

THE DRIGGS PATENT, OR THE VIOLIN PIANOS—Manufactured and sold by the DRIGGS PIANO COMPANY, No 543 Broadway. There is no strain whatever upon the case or sounding boards. There are two sounding boards, outwardly convex like the violin, giving three times the vibratory surface obtained in any other piano. The strain is borne by an independent iron frame, and it is stronger and will remain in tune longer than any other Piano. The case forms a vibratory shell, the same as the body of a violin, and is not filled up with heavy blocks and planking as in other Pianos. Its construction is far more simple and it is the only Piano made on scientific principles. "It is the best Piano-forte existing."

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.
MOSES—MISS PATTI.
MONDAY, May 7, at 8 o'clock

The directors anxious to produce the new opera of MOSES IN EGYPT in a style of completeness, perfection, and grandeur, such as never has been approached in this country, beg to announce that there will be NO OPERA on Friday, and no MATINEE on Saturday, for the purpose of employing the remainder of the week in extra rehearsals.

MOSE IN EGITTO
Will be produced on MONDAY NEXT, May 7.
TO THE PUBLIC.
Rossini's world-renowned Opera of
MOSE IN EGITTO,

Being the new version expressly arranged by Rossini for the Italian Opera in Paris, known as

will be performed on MONDAY next, with new scenery, new and magnificent costumes, made after the pattern of the Paris opera an extraordinarily strong Choral and Orchestral force, and a cast which both as regards principals and seconds, will be found perfect and complete in every respect, including

MISS ADELINA PATTI,
MME. STRAKOSCH. MME. VICKE,
BRIGNOLI, FERRI, SUSINI,
SCOLA, DUBREUIL,

and all the other members of the company, without exception, who will lend their assistance in all those magnificent concerted pieces in which this most elaborate and classical opera of Rossini abounds.

The Directors believe that in selecting Rossini's master-work as the last new Opera to be brought out this season they not only have consulted their own interests, but have likewise fulfilled the ardent wish of the public at large, who for many years have been anxious to see this Opera performed. At no time could the Directors have brought it out with fuller justice to the fame of the great composer, and to the grandeur of the music, than at present. Signor SUSINI'S Italian reputation is identified with this Opera, and he is universally considered, both in London and the principal cities in Italy, as the greatest living representative of Mose. Signor FERRI has won his last laurels in Milan as Pharao, whilst Signor BRIGNOLI has had the honor of creating the principal tenor part when "Mose in Egitto" was revived some six years ago, for the début of Madame Bosio at the Grand Opera in Paris. The three leading male parts are, therefore, in the hands of artists who have given abundant proof of their capability of rendering them more than adequately. As regards Miss PATTI, with her extraordinary facility and genius, she has mastered the enormous difficulties of her rôle with such success that the directors would be sorely disappointed if the part of Anaide should not prove one of her most artistic achievements. This extraordinary ensemble therefore, with music grand and majestic, yet abounding in most charming and taking melodies, a libretto full of interest, and so correct that it must find favor with even those classes whose religious prejudices prevent them from attending the usual operatic performances together with the mise en scene worthy of the first musical establishment in the country, encourage the directors in the hope of being honored with great patronage

The sale of seats for MOSE commences on Friday morning, at the three ticket offices.

Full particulars will be given in future advertisements.

CITY INTELLIGENCE.

DR. CHEEVER'S DIFFICULTIES.

Another Heated Discussion—The Question Still Undecided.

The debate which has had its origin in the difficulties engendered between Dr. CHEEVER and his friends, on one hand, and the Trustees of the Church of which he is the pastor, on the other, was continued last evening, pursuant to adjournment. The lecture room of the Church was crowded.

As at the previous meeting, Dr. GEORGE A. WHITE was appointed to fill the Chair.

Mr. BERRY, the Secretary of the Society, opened the meeting with prayer.

Mr. E. W. CHESTER said that before Mr. WOODBURY (who had the floor) recommenced his remarks, he would feel obliged if any of the gentlemen present would inform him when the debate was likely to close, and would suggest that the final meeting be held on Thursday (this) night.

Mr. GILBERT opposed the suggestion, on the ground that the making of it was an impropriety. He would like the whole matter fully ventilated, without regard to the time which it would occupy, whether a day, a week, or six months.

The matter was dropped.

Mr. WHITE, the Chairman, being obliged to withdraw because of ill health, called on Mr. BENNETT to take his place.

This being done,

Mr. WOODBURY resumed his speech in favor of Dr. CHEEVER. It was quite prolonged and exceedingly discursive. On several occasions he evoked hearty laughter.

A member rose and called attention to the fact that in one of the papers it had been asserted that, at the last meeting, the Chairman was incapable of maintaining order. He hoped that would be corrected. He knew that a mercantile firm, which occupied a position in the Church, had employed its clerks to create trouble at their meetings. He had been so informed himself on undoubted authority. [Cries of "Name" failed to elicit a reply.

Dr. BALL then took the stand, and said he felt some delicacy in relation to his present position, especially as towards his pastor. He must say that that he was obliged to differ from him in some respects, though he hoped to do so without giving offence. He thought that a majority of those who were opposed to the Foreign Aid Mission were opposed to the pastor, because of his preaching Anti-Slavery—because of his preaching it too much. A majority of those members of the Church who now opposed the pastor were men who, in his (Dr. B.'s) opinion, only two or three years ago sustained Dr. CHEEVER as Anti-Slavery men. He (Dr. B.) alluded to this fact because, though he was an Anti-Slavery man, he wished to prevent all dissensions in the Society.

It has been said against him by a brother that he had withheld his countenance then from this work because of his regard for money. That might be so, because he had the interests of the Church at heart.

A VOICE—"What do you say now?"

OTHER VOICES—"No interruptions."

Dr. BALL, without noticing the query, proceeded to deny the charge of conspiracy on the part of those who had sent an agent to England in the name of the Church of the Puritans—

A member denied that there was any agent sent in the name of the Church.

Dr. BALL responded by declaring that those members to whom he alluded did commission Miss JOHNSON to beg money for the Church of the Puritans. Was not that true?

[Cries of "Yes."]

Dr. BALL—And is not such a thing as that done in the name of the Church?

[Cries of "No, no."]

Dr. BALL went on to express his opinion as to the injudiciousness of having sent any one to England in the name of the Society, and, to support his statement, read the appeal.

Dr. CHEEVER—The Society is not mentioned there.

CHAIRMAN—I hope the brother will not be interrupted.

Dr. BALL would say that the gentlemen who did this were a secret body, and that they organized themselves into an independent committee for that purpose. He was astonished that the Pastor, who was the only man who had the right, should do what he had done in this matter, in the face of a statutory enactment. The Church and the Society were one body, and both must act in unison.

Dr. CHEEVER—No.

Dr. BALL—I affirm that what I say is true.

Dr. CHEEVER—No.

Cries of order suppressed the contention.

Dr. BALL resumed by saying that if he understood the law it made no distinction between the Church and the Society as one body.

Dr. CHEEVER—The Society only.

Dr. BALL—The Church is not known in the law at all. It decides in relation to doctrines, but not in relation to the temporalities of the Society. The Doctor is wrong in that, and who will deny it.

A VOICE—I do.

Dr. BALL replied by saying that the Church had nothing to do, unless the Society were with it. Again, he would say that individuals had no right to collect money for the Church, independent of the Trustees. He was not a cotton-merchant; he had stood up as an Anti-Slavery man, perhaps before Dr. CHEEVER was born, and, as a friend to him, he was convinced that, to promote the prosperity of the Church, this course of begging foreign aid should be abandoned. [Applause, which was suppressed at the remonstrance of the Chairman.] In the name of the Church of the Puritans, he declared that if members of that church, without due authorization, sent an agent to England to collect funds, their action should be severely censured, and never allowed to be repeated. It was, besides, a principle of universal application, that a pastor must be dependent, absolutely, on his congregation for support. He put this on the ground of simple contract. Dr. CHEEVER agreed with the Society to render certain services as pastor. If he went out of the congregation to seek funds, did he not violate the contract. Suppose he were to embrace Romanism or Unitarianism, would not the church, and not the pastor, have control over its temporal affairs. In conclusion, the speaker alluded to the example set by Dr. CHEEVER in preaching "a free gospel against Slavery," when sustained by foreign aid, as being of a most injurious character to the cause which he (the Dr.) had espoused. The general impression to be derived from it amongst the country pastors would be that as Dr. CHEEVER had become bankrupt because of his preaching of Anti-Slavery doctrines, they would act injuriously in pursuing the same course. He knew that the brethren had the right to go to England, and from the fund there collected raise a church. But would this serve the church? He predicted that two things would inevitably follow from it: either a divided church, or a serious discouragement of the members engaged in the project.

Dr. CHEEVER rose to reply. He rejoiced that his good brother BALL had come so plainly and clearly to the point. He wished to dispose, in the first place, of the question as to the impropriety of illegality, even, as had been asserted, of the pastor being bound by contract to depend solely on the Society for his one, two, or three thousand dollars a year. This was simply monstrous. He would illustrate the matter by own case. At the time when he coöperated with the founders of this Church, by whom he had been solicited to become their pastor, they said: "Dr. CHEEVER, we are not able to allow you sufficient for your proper support at present, and we beg of you to eke out the deficiency yourself." No individual had then hinted that he had violated the statutes of this State in supporting himself. [Applause.] He argued from the examples of Paul and Epaphroditus, who prided themselves on the success of their appeals for foreign aid, that, in sending Miss JOHNSON to England, he had only performed the duty of a Christian teacher. The right of this Church to support itself temporarily could not be disputed, he said, without disputing its right as a Church in Jesus, and the adoption of the course proposed by the Society would be an act of absolute despotism over the church. The present was the juncture to meet the demands of mammon against the church. In an effort to benefit this church the Society had no more authority to prescribe the action of its members than had the trustees. It was the unwarrantable action of the Trustees that had entrapped the Society into this course. The most alarming doctrines had been advanced by the Trustees, the avowal of which had nothing but the most reprehensible application, so far as the Society was concerned. He denied that the Trustees had any right, as was claimed, to sell the Church, and the effort to maintain such a right was only the assertion of a starvation power. The conflict, when such conflicts are advanced, was between the spiritual power and the property power. The spiritual power said you must do this; the property power said you must do otherwise in the name of the pews. This suffocation of the kernel by the husk, this imprisoning of God's truth within cotton-bales, was unendurable. In alluding to the Scotch Church, which, he said, had been so liberal in the cause for which they now contended, and which had resisted all offers of statutory aid, he declared that the Church of the Puritans was following directly in the same course. Let, then, the Society not dare to interfere with the right of the Church to sustain itself in its own way. It was out of this necessity to sustain itself that the mission to England grew. Every word in his letter (Dr. C.'s) was true. [Cries of "Amen," and "Yes."]

The men who opposed the foreign aid movement were those who insisted on the necessity of selling the property because of the decrease in the value of the pews and the increase in the price of property, and who urged that the preaching of the word of God was unprofitable. He asserted that the appeal for assistance from abroad was not made in behalf of the Society, but in the name of Christ, and in the cause of a free pulpit and of the oppressed. The man who yielded to the monstrous claims of the Trustees, as set up in this case, might be made their tool, but could not be regarded as a minister appointed to announce the truths of the Gospel. He argued that the laws of the Society were totally inoperative as regards the rights of the Church, and that the contemplated fear of a creation of a feud, irrespective of the Society, was a humbug and a bugbear. No one asked the Society to take any charge of this money. They would in no way be responsible for it. But it would enable the Church and its pastor to sustain themselves, and to have the word of God preached free and untramelled, without any diction on the part of the Society. But the Society would not be slaves because the pastor could preach without pay. Paul had a power independent as that of God himself, under God himself, and that muscular power was worth $500,000,000, and all the devils of hell could not deprive him of it. [Sensation.] The gentlemen who had initiated this work pleaded guilty to the charge of having in so sacred a message a woman; beloved, honored and blessed name. [Applause.] Thus it was in the early Church, as when Paul commissioned Phœbe to labor in behalf of the faith. One of the battering-rams that had been urged against the pastor was, that he was bound to consult and abide by the opinions of the Society. It was urged also that, if one-third were opposed to his ministrations, he would be obliged to resign; but this was a singular inconsistency, because if the obligation of yielding to the opinions of one-third were great, that of yielding to the opinions of two-thirds would be twice as great. [Laughter.] If any minister were to be ruled by the opinions of societies he would be no better than a parish pauper. "Let him die." "Rattle his bones over the stones." He was not in such bondage to any living man or society. If they wanted an organ they could have it manufactured at their call, exactly according to their pleasures or tastes, but if they wanted a ministry of the truth by the Spirit it was not at their will or under their thoughts but from God to them, not from them to God. Whether this mission be agreeable or not, he declared that this interference by the Society was an attempt at the subversion of the independence of the Church.

On the conclusion of Dr. CHEEVER's address several gentlemen started to their feet, and quite an excited discussion occurred on a question of order. The floor was eventually awarded to Mr. HALL, who made an exceedingly pointed speech. He made several direct personal allusions to the pastor of the Church, as having talked nothing but "stuff," for which he was called to order, and repeatedly interrupted. He criticized severely the conduct of the few members who had been instrumental in originating the foreign aid movement, but when the clock had shown the hour was somewhat past eleven, he was interrupted by a motion to adjourn.

Amid motions of the most conflicting nature as to the time of adjournment, some being for to-night, some for Monday night, and some for adjournment sine die.

The motion to adjourn until this (Thursday) night was put, and the sense of the meeting taken viva voce.

The Chairman declared that the meeting stood adjourned until 7½ o'clock this evening.

A division was called for, and a count demanded, but the Chairman refused, and persisted in declaring the question decided.

Many indignant remonstrances were made, but as the Chairman continued inflexible, a majority of the gentlemen took their hats and their departure, whilst a number, who still thronged round the rostrum, gave vent to their feelings in the most excited manner.

THE GALE—DISASTERS TO FERRY BOATS AND SHIPPING.—The wind, which was from the Northeast, on Monday, increased to a gale during the night. But few disasters, and those unimportant, have been reported. The schooner Dr. Kane, from Jacksonville, lying at Quarantine, dragged her anchors yesterday morning about 3 o'clock, and went ashore on the beach at Clifton, Staten Island. She can be got off with the assistance of a steam-tug, probably without damage. The remaining vessels, anchored at Quarantine and in the North River, most of them dragged, but without damage. The machinery of the Staten Island ferry boat Staten Islander, on her 8 o'clock trip to the City, from Port Richmond, became disabled, and the vessel was obliged to come to anchor. Her passengers were taken off and brought to the City in the Southfield. Three of the six boats running to the Island are unfit for use. The Hunchback was partially destroyed by fire a few days since, and the Josephine is undergoing repairs, leaving the Sylph, Huguenot and Southfield to do the work of the Island. The two former vessels are entirely unfit for business. The steamships Marion, from Charleston, Florida and R. R. Cuyler, from Savannuh, due last night, have not yet arrived. There being no arrivals viâ Sandy Hook, we are unable to hear of any vessels below.

CENTRAL NATIONAL UNION COMMITTEE—PREFERENCE FOR GEN. HOUSTON.—The monthly meeting of the Central National Union Committee was held last evening at Clinton Hall. A detailed statement was made of the proceedings of the Convention held at Troy on the 18th inst., and there was an interchange of views as to what was likely to be the course pursued at the approaching Convention at Baltimore. A strong feeling was expressed in favor of recommending the nomination of Gen. SAM HOUSTON for President, upon a National platform. Among the facts illustrating the feeling in this direction, one gentleman remarked that a prominent Republican had pledged, in case Gen. HOUSTON were nominated, to obtain one hundred Republican votes for him among his friends. After the transaction of some business, partly in reference to the forthcoming Baltimore Convention, the meeting adjourned to meet at the call of the Chairman.

READINGS.—The young authoress, Miss LIZZIE PETIT, of Virginia, makes her debût before a New-York audience as a dramatic reader this evening. She is invited to read by a committee of gentlemen, (among whom are some of the most distinguished names in the City,) as a testimonial of their high appreciation of her merits as a woman and an authoress. The readings will be interspersed with music from DODWORTH's Band.

A FRIENDLY VISIT.—The members of Friendship Hook and Ladder Company No. 12, of this City, have decided to visit Newark, N. J., with their apparatus on the occasion of the triennial parade of the Fire Department of that place, which will take place on the 13th of June next. They will be the guests of Crockett Hook and Ladder Company No. 2 of Newark, whom they received and entertained at the last parade of the Fire Department of this City.

AMERICAN GEOGRAPHICAL AND STATISTICAL SOCIETY.—This evening this Society hold their annual meeting, at which the election of officers and Council will take place. An interesting paper on the "Statistics of Consumption" is to be read by Dr. HENRY B. MILLARD.

LOW FARES TO CHICAGO.—Delegates to the Chicago Convention will see by advertisement that the New-York and Erie Railroad will issue excursion tickets to Chicago, and return, at reduced rates.

EXHIBITION OF AN ORGAN.—A new instrument, designed for St. Paul's Church, Staten Island, will be tested to-day, at 3 P. M., at the factory of the builder, Mr. W. H. DAVIS, No. 40 Downing-street.

Police Reports.

THE FIRST CASE UNDER A NEW LAW—A SOUTHERN CLERGYMAN IN THE HANDS OF TICKET-SWINDLERS.

Rev. John James, of Missouri, entered a complaint last Saturday against James Duffy, the keeper of the notorious ticket-swindling office, No. 109 West-street, charging him with having defrauded him out of the sum of $250 by false representations in the sale of passage-tickets by the steamer to California, whither the reverend gentleman desired to go. Mr. James alleges that, believing Duffy's to be the genuine office, he paid $600, as he supposed, for three first-class tickets, but, on presenting them on board the steamer, he learned that they only entitled him to the accommodations of the steerage, and that they could have been purchased for $350 at the office of the Steamship Co. As one of the provisions of the act passed by the last Legislature to prevent frauds in the sale of passenger tickets, makes it a misdemeanor, with a penalty upon conviction of imprisonment for not less than six months or more than two years, to charge more than the regular price for a ticket, whether the offender be an authorized agent or not, a warrant was issued for the arrest of Duffy and one Charles Gilmour, his clerk, but both of them had placed themselves without the pale of the law by fleeing to Jersey City. Under these circumstances the complainant made a supplementary affidavit, based on another provision of the act in question, which declares that ticket offices of the description complained of shall be proceeded against and broken up as disorderly houses. In the afternoon Capt. Hart, with two of his officers, went to the place for the purpose of arresting all persons they might find there; but its occupants had departed, and its doors were closed. So, after watching it a couple of hours without having observed any one enter, the Police postponed their business.

A RUFFIANLY BOARDING PARTY.

On Tuesday night a number of boarding-house runners visited the British brig Gitano, lying at the Rutgers-street Pier, East River, to induce her crew to patronize their respective establishments. Failing by entreaty to accomplish their purpose they endeavored to secure it by force, and a terrible row was the result. In the mêlée Marshal Rober and Mathew Gracie, two of the crew, were dangerously wounded with knives, and otherwise badly injured, but their assailants escaped arrest. Yesterday William Waldron, a boarding-house runner, was apprehended by Officer De Cordy, of the Seventh Precinct, on a charge of having been engaged in the fight, and several of the sailors fully identified him. Justice BRENNAN committed the accused to prison for examination, and the two wounded men were sent to the Seamen's Retreat on Staten Island.

PREPARING FOR SUMMER'S SPORT.

Messrs. J. & J. C. Conroy, proprietors of the fishing tackle and sportsman's depôt No. 65 Fulton-street, allege that their store was robbed, a few nights since, of $1,300 worth of goods. The burglar must have entered the premises by means of false keys, as the store was not at all disarranged, and the window shutters and doors were secure. Capt. Weed and his Detectives are investigating the matter, but, as no person in particular is suspected, their basis to work upon is very slight.

BORROWING ON BOGUS REPRESENTATIONS.

Mr. D. B. Peters, residing at No. 96 Allen-street, formerly the Secretary of the Second-avenue Railroad Company, was apprehended yesterday by Detective Farley, at the instance of Mr. W. R. Jackson, iron-railing manufacturer in Centre-street, who alleged that the defendant had defrauded him of a small sum of money by representing that he was still the Secretary of the Railroad Company. Several other persons stated that they had been swindled by Mr. Peters under similar circumstances, and Justice WELSH fully committed him for trial.

CHARGED WITH COUNTERFEITING.

Justice WELSH yesterday committed for trial Joseph Letz, a German, on the complaint of Sarah Prager, keeper of a jeweler's shop at No. 92 Chatham street, who alleged that the accused gave her a counterfeit $10 bill on Central Bank of Alabama, in payment for a ring that he had purchased. As soon as the complainant discovered that she had been swindled, she started in pursuit of the rogue, and found him in the shirt store of Michael S. Rich, No. 29 Chatham-street, in the act of disposing of a similar counterfeit to that with which she had been victimized.

ANOTHER FUGITIVE MURDERER.

Thomas Pryor, an Irish laborer, mortally stabbed a fellow workman named John Kennedy during a fight which occurred between them last Saturday evening, at a drinking-saloon in Peekskill. Pryor immediately came to this City, where he was pursued, and a search yesterday resulted in finding him in West Broadway, near the Girard House. Upon attempting to arrest the accused, he knocked the Peekskill officer down, and ran off towards Broadway, but Officer Drucker, of the Third Precinct, arrested his flight, and secured him. The prisoner was sent back to Peekskill.

AN UNSUCCESSFUL NEGOTIATION.

Thomas J. Pittman, a young man 18 years of age, who has been employed as clerk in the store of Mr. John H. Lester, No. 57 Pearl-street, Brooklyn, obtained a draft for $450 on the Stamford Bank of Connecticut, that had been forwarded by mail to his employer, and offered to sell it to Mr. E. F. Frost, of No. 104 South street. He was not successful, and, having been arrested, Justice WELSH committed him for trial on a charge of grand larceny.

Coroners' Inquests.

THE CASE OF SUPPOSED POISONING IN FIFTY-NINTH-STREET.

About four weeks since the family of Mr. HARPER, residing in Fifty-ninth-street, near Second-avenue, were all attacked with symptoms of having taken poison, and ROBERT, a boy of 7 years of age, soon died, while the others slowly recovered, as was stated in the TIMES when the circumstance occurred. An investigation was commenced by Coroner O'KEEFE, but in order that Dr. FINNELL might make a thorough analysis of the stomach and intestines of deceased, the inquest was postponed. Yesterday Dr. FINNELL made his report, in which he stated that he had been unable to discover any traces of poison in the parts he had examined, but that he had found them intensely irritated, and that death, in his opinion, had been produced by the irritation, the cause of which, however, he could not determine. The jury returned a verdict that the child had died in consequence of having accidentally partaken of some poisonous substance with its food or drink.

THE SUPPOSED HOMICIDE OF MR. WM. LYONS.

Coroner JACKMAN yesterday interrogated DANIEL W. LEWIS, the waiter employed in the oyster saloon at the corner of Park-place and Broadway, whose arrest on suspicion of having, on the 19th ult., caused the death of Mr. WM. LYONS, a driver in the employ of the Adams Express Company, has already been published, and committed him to the Tombs pending a further investigation of the case before Justice WELSH. It has been ascertained that deceased entered the saloon in question, in company with a lady, and that a dispute occurred with reference to the bill for refreshments, when the prisoner knocked him down, as is supposed, with a paving-stone.

SUICIDE OF A SICK MAN.

JOSEPH ASHMAN, an aged Israelite, residing at No. 163 Hester-street, who has been in depressed spirits for some time past in consequence of severe illness, cut his throat early yesterday morning with a razor, and almost immediately expired. Deceased had frequently threatened to kill himself. Coroner SCHIRMER held an inquest upon the body.

A CHILD KILLED ON THE NINTH-AVENUE RAILROAD.

The same Coroner investigated the circumstances attending the death of ELIZA BECKER, a girl two years of age, who was killed on Sunday in consequence of having been run over by a Ninth-avenue railroad car. The inquest was held at No. 695 Ninth-avenue, the residence of the parents of deceased, and the jury declared that the occurrence was accidental.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

POLICE COMMISSIONERS.

RESIGNATIONS AND APPOINTMENTS—REPORT OF THE SANITARY SQUAD.

The Board of Police Commissioners met yesterday at 1 o'clock P. M., Mr. BOWEN in the chair. Capt. Shaurman, of the Third Precinct, Brooklyn, sent in his resignation. Accepted. Officer Dusenberry, of the Inspector's office, was transferred to the detective force. Officer Frost, of Brooklyn, was permitted to receive a reward of $5 for the recovery of a stolen flute. James Carroll was fined thirty days' pay for being absent from duty without leave.

D. B. Applegate, of Brooklyn, and William Stewart, of New-York were appointed patrolmen.

A letter of thanks was received from the Pilot Commissioners, for the efficient service rendered by the Harbor Police in removing the shad-pole obstructions in the harbor.

Sergeant Lord, of the Sanitary Police, reported a large number of places as containing nuisances.

CROTON DEPARTMENT.

BIDS FOR BELGIAN PAVEMENT.

In pursuance of directions from the Common Council, the Croton Department has advertised for proposals for paving several of the streets with trap-block pavement, and five of these proposals were opened yesterday, with the following results:

That for paving State-street, from Battery-place to Whitehall-street, was awarded to Hugh Humes, the lowest of six bidders. He gave security in $5,000.

For paving of Thirty-fifth-street, from Fifth to Sixth avenues, to W. A. Cummings, the lowest of eight bidders, with security in $3,000.

For paving Reade-street, from Broadway to Washington-street, awarded to J. B. & W. E. Culver, the lowest of eight bidders, with security in $5,000.

For paving Chambers street, from Chatham-street to the Hudson River, awarded to W. A. Cummings, the lowest of nine bidders, with surety in $10,000.

For paving Amity-street, from Broadway to the Sixth-avenue, awarded to W. A. Cummings, the lowest of nine bidders, with surety in $5,000.

All of these contracts will, of course, require confirmation by the Common Council; and that granted, the question will arise, how are these contractors to be paid? The Croton Board has already officially announced that, if all the streets ordered to be paved with the trap block are put under contract, it will create a deficit in the funds of the Department of over half a million of dollars, all of these pavements having been ordered since the annual estimates were sent in, and for which, of course, no provision could be made.

ALDERMANIC COMMITTEES.

THE CONTEST BETWEEN MR. MITCHELL AND ALDERMAN RUSSELL FOR A SEAT IN THE BOARD.

The final meeting of the Aldermanic Committees on Contested Seats was held yesterday. The counsel for Mr. MITCHELL did not appear, and after waiting as long as Aldermanic patience would allow, or the law required, the case was declared closed, and the Committee adjourned.

BROOKLYN INTELLIGENCE.

CONVICTED OF CARRYING A SLUNG-SHOT.—JAS. MCCLOSKEY, who is proprietor of a liquor saloon in Ferry-place, South Brooklyn, was convicted in the Court of Sessions, yesterday, of carrying a slung-shot. At an early hour on the morning of Nov. 8 last he was found by Officer OAKES, of the Third Precinct Police, making a disturbance at the door of a house in Carroll street, and, upon being remonstrated with, he attempted to strike the officer with the weapon indicated. He was sentenced to be imprisoned one year in the State Prison at Sing Sing.

ITEMS.—The Brooklyn Postmaster is about to locate iron letter-boxes in different parts of the city, similar to those used in New-York.... The receipts for licenses at the Hack Inspector's office during the month of April amounted to $1,217.... The house of ROBERT BOYD, No. 298 Union-street, was robbed on Tuesday evening of silver-ware valued at about $200. .... The Fifth Justice's District is well supplied with Police Magistrates just now, or rather, those who lay claim to that important office. Two gentlemen were voted for by the people at the last Fall election, but the canvasses declined to give a certificate of election to either of them. Both now claim the office, and these gentlemen are opposed by the former magistrae, who holds that his term does not expire until a "successor" has been elected. All of the claimants occupied the "bench" yesterday, and talked against time in a rape case. The farce was brought to a close by the clerk adjourning the Court to meet his convenience, and the counsel for prisoner, against the remonstrance of the Justices, told his client to go home and take his witnesses with him and not to come there again, as there was "nothing" in the case.... THOS. REID the sailor, who stabbed WM. STANLEY on the night of April 18, in Columbia, near Harrison-street, was committed by Justice CORNWELL yesterday, to await the action of the Grand Jury.

NEW-JERSEY.

The Mysterious Murder of a Female—Mrs. Richardson Further Identified.

The body of the woman who was found murdered at the York-street dock, has been further identified by four persons as that of Mrs. ADA RICHARDSON. On Tuesday evening the proprietor of the Lafarge House, accompanied by his book-keeper and bartender, called at Dr. QUIDOR's house, during his absence, and desired to view the head. Upon seeing it they at once positively identified it. The proprietor of the hotel stated, however, that Mrs. RICHARDSON entered her name on the books as Mrs. NEWTON. He said also that he could bring a number of ladies from his house who would be able to identify her. A young gentleman from Boston called yesterday, and, after viewing the head, said that it resembled in every respect that of ADA RICHARDSON. He had known her for two years in Boston, having seen her almost every day in the streets, and that she was well known there. It will be recollected that the detectives, in tracing up the affair, found Mrs. RICHARDSON's name booked on the steamship Cahawba, for New-Orleans, on the 12th of January last. The two barrels of pitch were also found to be missing between Saturday, the 12th, and the Monday following. Further efforts are to be made in hopes of ferreting out the perpetrators of the crime, in order to bring them to justice.

INQUEST ON THE VICTIMS OF THE FIRE IN ORANGE.—The Coroner, on Tuesday, investigated the origin of the fire at Orange, N. J., in consequence of which, Mrs. HOBSON and four children were burned to death. HOBSON, whose arrest we announced yesterday, testified as follows:

I occupied the house which was burned on Monday; I had six children and my wife with me there; my wife, my two sons, Jonathan and William, and my daughter Isabella, were burned; my other children, Martha, James and the baby were saved; I do not know at what time the fire broke out; I was up at the corner of Centre-street, (Orange,) in Patrick Owen's; I came out and saw people running; when I got home, the house was all in a blaze; I looked at the fire and then ran half-way to Bloomfield, and then to Newark, N. J.; I ran because I was sorry about my wife and children; I got home about 9 o'clock in the evening; I then went to Freemantown, and stopped at Mr. Allen's about ten minutes; I was coming home, when I met Ackerman, and came to Mr. Ezra Freeman's; I was at work on Monday; I did some work at blacksmithing; I also put up a little pen for manure at the side of the shop, (the witness kept a cow); I was fixing hames for Mr. Condit just before I went to Centre-street; Mr. Condit's horses were in the shop at the time; while I was at work at the hames a horse broke loose out of a neighboring barn, and I went and tied him again; I had a fire built on the forge at the time I was working; the forge was at one end of the shop and the stairway at the other; I was up stairs about twenty minutes before I went to Centre-street; I did not shut the outside door when I came down; there was a lock and key on the outside door, which was the only lock about the house; I saw the key on Sunday—the children were in the habit of playing with it; I am able to take charge of the bodies and bury them; I did not throw a hot shoe on the floor, nor did I know of any shavings on the floor; I did not cry "fire" when I started for Bloomfield.

A dozen other witnesses corroborated the above statement, and not the slightest evidence was adduced that the accused was guilty of having fired the premises.

The jury found a verdict "that the persons named came to their death by being burned in the fire in question, the origin of which is to them unknown."

It is the opinion of many that HOBSON, who has been rendered almost wild by drinking liquor during the past few months, let fall a red-hot horse-shoe on the floor, which set fire to some combustible material communicating with the stairway leading to the apartments occupied by the family above, which cut off their means of escape.

TAKEN IN.—On Tuesday evening, a young fellow named PATRICK MCCALL, residing in New-York, came over to Jersey City, and fell in with a party of young men, with whom he spent several hours in carousal. In consequence of the rain, one of the party—JAMES PAINTER—invited the stranger to spend the night with him. Instead of taking MCCALL to his house, he led him to an out-of-the-way place, where, it is alleged, he succeeded in stealing his watch. MCCALL gave notice of the loss to Officer SMITH, who took PAINTER into custody, and found the watch in his possession. The accused was held for examination.

OBITUARY.

Death of John O. Woodruff, Esq.

How frequently of late has the commercial public been called upon to mourn the untimely loss of its most popular and efficient members. In no case, however, have there been regrets more sincere than those which are called forth by the unfortunate accident which, last week, deprived a large circle of friends of the presence of JOHN O. WOODRUFF, Esq. To mention his loss, is to awaken the sorrow and sympathy of the mercantile public not only in New-York, St. Louis and New-Orleans, with which cities his house was directly connected, but also with their correspondents throughout the West and South.

Mr. WOODRUFF was the son of the late T. T. WOODRUFF, Esq., a well-known citizen of New-York. He received his mercantile education in South-street, at the office of the well-known shipping house of Messrs. E. K. COLLINS & Co., and in about the year 1845 went to New-Orleans, where he established the house of JOHN O. WOODRUFF & Co., in connection with his brother, JAMES F. WOODRUFF, at St. Louis, Mo. The influence of Mr. WOODRUFF, in that city, soon made itself felt. His clear judgment, bold and prompt operations, early established for him a reputation, throughout the South and West, that caused his house speedily to assume the highest commercial rank, and he became President of the Chamber of Commerce, which position he filled with honor. It is not too much to say that his active sagacity in directing the movements of business added much to the development of Western prosperity. It is not, however, alone as a successful business man that the memory of Mr. WOODRUFF will be respectfully cherished. His innate goodness of heart, always alive to kindly expressions, displayed itself under all circumstances of intercourse, not only to his immediate friends, but to the large circle of his acquaintance, and stamped itself upon his character as a valuable citizen. While the unfortunate always experienced his ready generosity, and the deserving his efficient aid, there are few to whom his memory will not be a pleasing regret. We cannot approach the profound sorrow into which his sudden demise has plunged his bereaved family. The holiness of grief such as theirs can be appreciated only by those who, through the medium of friendship, had learned to prize his genial, large-hearted and sympathetic character.

The public will remember the melancholy fate of his brother, JAMES E. WOODRUFF, who, with his wife, and his sister, Mrs. COLLINS, and her children, went down in the ill-fated Arctic some six years since. That awful visitation, which fell so heavily upon the public, has now in that family been followed by the sad accident which has called Mr. JOHN O. WOODRUFF, in the flower of his age, from the midst of his usefulness. He was thrown from a vehicle, thereby sustaining an internal injury, which became suddenly fatal. Thus have the two brothers been reft of life by the dispensation of Providence after a short but exemplary career; leaving, however, an inheritance of honor to the family, the friends, and the community. —From the Springfield (Ill.) State Register.

Death of Rev. Archibald Maclay, D. D.

This highly esteemed and venerable Baptist clergyman expired at his residence in West Twenty-fourth-street, at 8 o'clock yesterday morning, at the advanced age of 82 years. He had been confined to the house for six months or more, by a distressing and lingering illness, and although physically prostrated, his mind remained clear and unclouded to the last moment, when his spirit passed away from this sublunary sphere to a brighter and purer existence. No one among the prominent clergy of this City was better or more extensively known to every Christian denomination, or more universally esteemed; and none have departed this life more deeply regretted by the community than this liberal and enlightened Christian.

Standing as it were at the head of the Baptist Church in this City for a period of nearly sixty years, he was looked up to as one of the fathers of that church, and coming here when the City contained a population of only thirty thousand souls, he witnessed in this, the city of his adoption, all those great and varied changes in its complexion and character which has made New-York the great emporium of the Western Hemisphere. Doctor MACLAY has filled many important and responsible positions in the church, of which he was a presiding elder, and in an eminent degree commanded the respect and confidence of all. He died as he had lived, an exemplary and sincere Christian, and leaves a numerous family of children, grand-children, and great grand-children, to lament his loss, besides an extensive circle of sorrowing friends who sympathize with the afflicted family in this dispensation of Providence.

Very Late from Utah.

BY THE OVERLAND PONY EXPRESS.

CAMP FLOYD, Saturday, April 14, 1860.

An Express reached this place on the 11th inst. from Lieut. MULLAN, (Wintering in Bitter Creek Valley, nearly 400 miles North,) with a requisition for 90 animals, all those accompanying his expedition having perished from the cold. He was able to buy others at that place, but at exorbitant prices. Under the circumstances, his request was not complied with.

The details for recruiting service are Lieuts. WEBB and BAUKHEAD, Fifth Infantry; AMORY and EVANS, Seventh Infantry; ANDERSON and VILLEPIGUE, Second Dragoons. No detail will be made for the present from Tenth Infantry.

Companies G and I, Second Dragoons, are dispatched for Fort Massachusetts. Companies K, (Capt. DUNOVANT,) D (Capt. BEE,) and C, (Capt. TIDVALL,) Tenth Infantry, are detailed for Laramie; Companies G (Capt. CUMMING,) and B (Capt. GARDNER,) for Briden; Companies F, (Capt. GROM,) H (TRACY,) and A (Capt. NELSON,) for New-Mexico. The remaining Companies of the Tenth, E (Capt. HETH,) and I (Capt. GOOR,) to remain here. Surgeon J. B. PORTER and Assistant Surgeons NORRIS, MORE and BREWER remain in the Dépôt.

It is the general opinion here that essential changes will be made in the present order, on the arrival of Gen. JOHNSTON in Washington, as he is known to be in favor of keeping all or none of the troops here. He will perhaps recommend the removal of the reduced force to the Northern Emigrant route. If this is done, a post may be established near Fort Hall.

The Great Prize Fight

From the Evening Post.

An American merchant, now traveling abroad, who saw the prize fight, gives this account of it in a private letter:

"The ring was made at 7½ o'clock, and the men soon after entered. Both looked well, particularly SAYERS, whose form and condition seemed faultless; HEENAN's appearance evidently surprised the Englishmen, and the odds of 'three to one' on SAYERS, which had been current for the last few days, were no longer offered.

The fight lasted over two hours, and the people here say it was the best and hardest fought battle that has ever taken place. For the particulars of the rounds see Wilkes' Spirit of the Times; the editor was on the ground from first to last, and the only reporter that did remain. DOWLING, the editor of Bell's Life, who was stake-holder, referee, umpire, and everything else, ran away as soon as the trouble commenced, and when HEENAN's seconds claimed the fight in consequence of SAYERS remaining in his corner when 'time' was called, behold! there was no referee.

It looked very like a preconcerted plan. They were not 'rowdies and roughs' who broke into the ring and struck and kicked HEENAN, but officers of the army, men about town, noblemen, and altogether as respectable a body of men in appearance as I ever saw at any kind of an exhibition. The £3 10s., the price of the railroad tickets, kept all outsiders away.

I had a front seat, and saw the whole from beginning to end. The interference at the close was most disgraceful and cowardly, and Englishmen were, of all others, the last men, I supposed, who could be guilty of such an outrage. The whole country has been insane about this fight ever since my arrival here, and SAYERS is so great a pet that I don't believe the people would allow him to be whipped by any one.

* * * * *

The police were present after the third round, but never made any demonstration to break it up, nor entered the ring till the men were dressing and there were decided symptoms of a free fight among these brave Englishmen. If HEENAN had fought the first three rounds as he fought the last three, it would all have been over in twenty minutes. To give you an idea of his immense strength, in one of the rounds he took SAYERS up bodily, and threw him on his back as if he were a bag of meal.

That SAYERS is a game and brave man no one can deny; but HEENAN is equally game and brave, and by far the most powerful and enduring."
